Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

And having prepared everything...take your stand.
(Ephesians 6:13b)

• Week 1: Standing Defined – Installing a parameter (Paul in Acts 19-20). LIVING FOR THE WILL OF GOD. Measuring its success by Results = Miracles, Attacks, Salvations, Baptisms, DISCIPLESHIP happening because we are standing not because we organized an event to create some hoopla.

• Week 2: The Nature of Standing: WHO STANDS

As God Stands (who bequeathed it to Jesus)

The Enemy's Stand (that is allowed because of our gift of free will)

Our Right to Stand (the gift from our Heavenly Father when we were conceived = Freewill)

[Dominion will be covered later]

The Nature of Standing in: RULERSHIP (What gives us the right to)

- God rules because He was, He is, He is to come.
- Enemy rules because we were created with free will.
- We rule in two ways: 1. From the gift of Free Will created in us during our creation AND

[2. we were given DOMINION in Gen 1:28...not included in week 2. Waiting for discussion on Authority as modeled in Parable Luke 19:11-27 (Parable of the ten minas (reap what you did not sow, ten minas))

The Nature of Standing in: CHARACTER (Defining WHO we are)

The Nature of Standing in: MANIFESTATIONS (The behavior of, the results, the growth, the signs of)

Week 3: The Fruit of Where One Stands

Week 4: The Power in Confession

This we know: 2 Tim. 3:16-17

All Scripture is breathed out by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, 17 that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work.

Praying Always (Eph. 6:18): Prayer opens the channels between us and God. In the midst of battle, we as believers must keep in constant communication with our Leader for directions and encouragement. Our prayers for one another are important and effectual

This we know: 2 Corinthians 10:3-5

3 For though we walk in the flesh, we are not waging war according to the flesh. 4 For the weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh but have divine power to destroy strongholds. 5 We destroy arguments and every lofty opinion raised against the knowledge of God, and take every thought captive to obey Christ,

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

And having prepared everything...take your stand.
(Ephesians 6:13b)

John 1:32

<sup>32</sup> And John bore witness: "I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove, and it remained on Him.

It did not change His natural state of being human (100% man).

The first mention of the Spirit in the Gospel of John is found in John 1:32–33. The Spirit's descent on Jesus signifies to John the Baptist that Jesus is the Messiah. The Ebionite and Adoptionist heresies held that Jesus was ontologically (his nature of existence) altered when the Spirit descended on Him. The Spirit does not change Jesus ontologically, however, for <sup>1</sup> adjective of or relating to ontology, the branch of metaphysics that studies the nature of existence or being as such; metaphysical: Some of the U.S. founders held an ontological belief in natural rights.

It did not change His spiritual nature (100% God) as Jesus already was:

- Before Jesus was anointed with the Spirit at His baptism He was the Word, who was God

John 1:1-3

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. <sup>2</sup> He was in the beginning with God. <sup>3</sup> All things were made through Him, and without Him was not any thing made that was made.

- and became flesh (1:14).

John 1:14

And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen His glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth.

- Not only does the Spirit remain on Jesus (1:32–33),

John 1:32-33

And John bore witness: "I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove, and it remained on Him. <sup>33</sup> I myself did not know Him, but He who sent me to baptize with water said to me, 'He on whom you see the Spirit descend and remain, this is He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.'

- He also empowers Him to speak the word of God (3:34).

John 3:34

For He whom God has sent utters the words of God, for He gives the Spirit without measure.

- Jesus, speaking by the Spirit, speaks words that are spirit and are life (6:63).

John 6:63

It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh is no help at all. The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life. (Right after the 'eat my flesh, drink my blood)

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

- When the Spirit comes, He will glorify Jesus (16:14), accomplished by His ministry to the world and to believers.

John 16:12-14

<sup>12</sup> "I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now. <sup>13</sup> When the Spirit of truth comes, He will guide you into all the truth, for He will not speak on His own authority, but whatever He hears He will speak, and He will declare to you the things that are to come. <sup>14</sup> He will glorify Me, for He will take what is Mine and declare it to you.

- Jesus will also baptize with the Spirit (1:33).

John 1:33

<sup>33</sup> I myself did not know Him, but He who sent me to baptize with water said to me, 'He on whom you see the Spirit descend and remain, this is He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.'

So WHO is Jesus baptizing with the Holy Spirit?

- Does this happen to us? Can it?

John 14:11-13

<sup>11</sup> Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father is in Me, or else believe on account of the works themselves. <sup>12</sup> "Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever believes in Me will also do the works that I do; and greater works than these will he do, because I am going to the Father. <sup>13</sup> Whatever you ask in My name, this I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

John 14:15-17

<sup>15</sup> "If you love Me, you will keep my commandments. <sup>16</sup> And I will ask the Father, and He will give you another Helper, to be with you forever, <sup>17</sup> even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees Him nor knows Him. You know Him, for He dwells with you and will be in you.

John 15:26-27

<sup>26</sup> "But when the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, who proceeds from the Father, He will bear witness about Me. <sup>27</sup> And you also will bear witness, because you have been with Me from the beginning.

John 16:5-15 The Work of the Holy Spirit

<sup>5</sup> "But now I am going away to the One who sent Me, and not one of you is asking where I am going. <sup>6</sup> Instead, you grieve because of what I've told you. <sup>7</sup> But in fact, it is best for you that I go away, because if I don't, the Advocate won't come. If I do go away, then I will send Him to you. <sup>8</sup> And when He comes, He will convict the world of its sin, and of God's righteousness, and of the coming judgment. <sup>9</sup> The world's sin is that it refuses to believe in Me. <sup>10</sup> Righteousness is available because I go to the Father, and you will see Me no more. <sup>11</sup> Judgment will come because the ruler of this world has already been judged.

<sup>12</sup> "There is so much more I want to tell you, but you can't bear it now.

[SO WHAT DOES JESUS DO TO 'FIX' THIS?]

<sup>13</sup> When the Spirit of truth comes,
He will guide you into all truth.

He will not speak on His own but will tell you what He has heard.

Still Standing

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

He will tell you about the future.

<sup>14</sup> He will bring Me glory by telling you whatever He receives from Me.

<sup>15</sup> All that belongs to the Father is Mine; this is why I said, 'The Spirit will tell you whatever He receives from Me.'

It is not the baptism of the Holy Ghost which changes men, but the power of the ascended Christ coming into men's lives by the Holy Ghost that changes them. We too often divorce what the New Testament never divorces: The baptism of the Holy Ghost is not an experience apart from Jesus Christ - it is the evidence of the ascended Christ.

How the Old Testament Describes John 1:32:

<sup>32</sup> And John bore witness: "I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove, and it remained on Him.

- Isaiah 11:1-3 (Holy Spirit). ESV

There shall come forth a shoot from the stump of Jesse, and a branch from his roots shall bear fruit.

<sup>2</sup> And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon Him, the Spirit of wisdom and understanding, the Spirit of counsel and might, the Spirit of knowledge and the fear of the Lord.

<sup>3</sup> And His delight [referring to a sense of smell = incense] shall be in the fear of the Lord. He shall not judge by what His eyes see, or decide disputes by what His ears hear,

DEFINE THESE CHARACTERISTICS:

Wisdom: Biblical wisdom unites God, the Source of all understanding, with daily life, where the principles of right living are put into practice. LEADERSHIP.

Understanding: The Why of life

Counsel: The How to of life

Might: Endurance (How much pain can you take and how long can you take it?)

Knowledge: Intimacy w/God.

Fear of the LORD: Attitude of...Respect, honor, awe, wonder, amazement, reverence, veneration, dread = OBEDIENCE

Judging with Right Judgment:

John 7:24 Do not judge according to appearance, but judge with righteous judgment."

All from the Holy Spirit resting upon...

How can the Holy Spirit rest upon me?

What is it like to receive Wisdom, Understanding, Counsel, Might, Knowledge, Right Judgment, Worshipful attitude?

The Holy Spirit gave these to Christ.

Are these not now available to us? To Stand as He did?

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Ephesians 1:17-19

<sup>15</sup> For this reason, because I have heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus and your love toward all the saints, <sup>16</sup> I do not cease to give thanks for you, remembering you in my prayers,

<sup>17</sup> that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you the Spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of Him,

<sup>18</sup> having the eyes of your hearts enlightened, that you may know what is the hope to which He has called you, what are the riches of His glorious inheritance in the saints,

<sup>19</sup> and what is the immeasurable greatness of His power toward us who believe

, according to the working of His great might <sup>20</sup> that he worked in Christ when he raised him from the dead and seated him at his right hand in the heavenly places, <sup>21</sup> far above all rule and authority and power and dominion, and above every name that is named, not only in this age but also in the one to come. <sup>22</sup> And he put all things under his feet and gave him as head over all things to the church, <sup>23</sup> which is his body, the fullness of him who fills all in all.

Asking for EVERYTHING the Spirit has for us.

NOTES:

- What are we doing when these comes to us?
- Can we use these now?
- How would we use these in our life?
Do we need to be in places these are needed in order for them to be given?

Needed in order to make hard decisions and to face never ending opposition.

Need to know the LORD's will and ways

Understanding of God's word – need this before you can apply it. (Ro.11:33)

“Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom & knowledge of God!”

Isaiah 11:1 Isaiah again speaks a message of future hope centered in a God-ordained Davidic ruler and His reign. See 7:14-16 and 9:1-7. Again, it is best to see the fulfillment as ultimately messianic with some initial fulfillment in Hezekiah. See note on 7:14.

11:1 Stem presupposes the difficulties that have befallen the Davidic throne since the kingdom divided. From this same damaged root system (10:33, 34) will emerge fresh life in a new ruler, symbolically called a Rod and Branch. Rev. 5:5 terms Christ “the Root of David.”

WORD WEALTH

11:2 wisdom, chochmah (choach-mah); Strong's #2451: Wisdom; wiseness; skillfulness, whether in the artistic sense (craftsmanship) or the moral sense (skills for living correctly). This noun occurs about 150 times. It is found in all sections of the OT, but is mentioned extensively in Job, Prov., and Eccl. Biblical wisdom unites God, the Source of all understanding, with daily life, where the principles of right living are put into practice. Therefore, one is exhorted to make God the starting point in any quest for wisdom (Ps. 111:10) and to seek wisdom above all else if he would live successfully (Prov. 4:5-9). The present reference shows that wisdom is a permanent characteristic of the Messiah; compare 1 Cor. 1:24.

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

11:2 The Spirit of the LORD gives the king his skills to rule, a truth clearly seen in Christ's ministry (Luke 4:14). The Holy Spirit is mentioned by Isaiah more than by any other prophet. The attributes of the Spirit's anointing here suggest the names of the miracle Child. See note on 9:6, 7. The seven distinct ministries of the Holy Spirit mentioned—exalting the Lord's rule, wisdom, understanding, counsel, might, knowledge, fear (reverence)—are thought by some to be the OT counter reference to Rev. 4:5, revealing multiplicity of expression in the Holy Spirit's workings.<sup>2</sup>

Messiah's kingdom (11:1–16)

Clearly the two major sections of this chapter (1–9, 10–16) belong together. They both concern the rule of the shoot or Root of Jesse (1, 10). But what is first presented in general and symbolic terms in verses 1–9 is then reduced to concrete particulars in verses 10–16.

The ideal king (11:1–9)

The movement from the overthrow of the human kingdom (represented by Assyria) to the setting up of the kingdom of God (represented by the Messiah) is a natural one theologically, even though it involves a radical foreshortening of the historical processes involved. Appropriate also, in another sense, is the movement from the felling of a forest at the end of the previous chapter to the emergence of a shoot from a stump at the beginning of this one. But this is only a surface continuity. The deeper reality involves a sharp contrast. Assyria is felled never to grow again; Judah is felled only to have new life emerge from its stump.

This is not the first time in the book that the transition from judgment to salvation has been depicted as the springing up of a plant, but clearly there is a more particular application of that imagery here. In 4:2 the full-grown Branch was a general image of the LORD's saving work for his people at last come to fruition. Here the shoot/Branch is a metaphor for the Messiah, through whose advent and rule this will be accomplished. In 6:13 the stump was symbolic of the faithful remnant of the nation, the 'holy seed' from which a new people of God would grow. Here in chapter 11 the stump is the felled Davidic house, from which will come at last their leader and standard-bearer.

In a sense every king of Judah, from Saul onwards, had been the messiah. Moreover, in view of the promises made to David it was natural that the Davidic house should have held a central place in the hopes of those who looked for God's will to be done in their midst. But it is also natural that, as the Davidic dynasty proved to be more and more of a disappointment, their expectations should have moved away from the current kings in Jerusalem towards a future ideal ruler, the Messiah, whom God would send to lead them. This process is clearly at work in chapters 8–11 of Isaiah, against the background of the faithlessness of Ahaz in chapter 7. We first met this ideal figure in 9:6–7; now we are given a fuller account of his character and reign. The passage moves from his fitness to rule (1–3a) to the character of his rule (3b–5) to the ideal state of affairs that will result from his rule (6–9).

The expression the stump of Jesse (1, cf. 10) indicates his humble origins, bypassing all the ostentation of the Davidic house as it subsequently developed. His fitness to rule will consist essentially in his endowment with the Spirit, giving him true wisdom, grounded in the fear of the LORD (2–3). This too, by implication, is a reflection on the current kings, whose false wisdom arose from fear of an altogether different kind (7:2). The fundamental characteristic of his rule will be righteousness, which in practical terms will mean justice for the poor and meek (4–6), something which the current kings had conspicuously failed to bring about (cf. 3:12–15). And he will be in a position to execute perfect justice because he will be possessed of perfect knowledge (3b). There is a strong suggestion here, and in the extraordinary power of his spoken word (4b), that he will be more than an ordinary mortal.

The effect of his rule will be universal peace (6–9), an ideal described here in symbolic language which recalls the paradise of Eden. It is a picture of the whole creation put back into joint. The entire earth, not just Jerusalem/Zion, will be the LORD's holy mountain (9, cf. 2:2; 4:5). In other words, he will be known, and his rule will be experienced, everywhere.

In this passage, then, as in 9:6–7, Isaiah looks beyond the disappointments of his own age to the coming of one who, in the last analysis, can only be God in the flesh, the Lord Jesus Christ. But the two passages are complementary. The first focuses on his birth, the second on the actualization of his reign over the earth. In New Testament terms, 9:6–7 was fulfilled in his incarnation, and 11:1–9 will be fulfilled in his second advent.<sup>3</sup>

11:1–9 The messianic King is described as a "Rod" or shoot from the "stem" or stump of Jesse, the father of David from whom the Messiah would come. The coming Messiah is pictured as a messianic King with the Spirit of the Lord resting upon Him, possessing wisdom and leadership, and having intimacy with God. "Knowledge" signifies an intimate, personal relationship (v. 2). "Fear of the Lord" describes reverent obedience, not cringing fear (v. 2). The messianic King would delight in doing the Lord’s will (v. 3). He would rule with equity. The social and ethical aspects of His reign are emphasized. The Messiah would bring a time of peace with harmony, even among natural enemies (vv. 6, 7).<sup>4</sup>

11:1-9 This celebrated salvation oracle about the King of Peace (4:2; 7:14; 9:6) consists of three sections: (1) His endowment (vv. 1, 2); (2) His righteous rule (vv. 3-5); (3) His kingdom of peace (vv. 6-9).

11:1 A Rod from the stem of Jesse (see 1 Sam. 16:10-13) represents the new and greater David. As David inaugurated a kingdom of righteousness and peace, the new David, the “rod” or “root” from David’s line (53:2), will establish an incomparably greater kingdom. The words Rod and Branch are messianic terms. They are figurative words for the great descendant of the household of David, the Seed of the Woman promised in Gen. 3:15, Jesus Christ Himself (see Matt. 1:17).

11:2 Spirit: As in the case of David (1 Sam. 16:13), the Messiah would be empowered by the Holy Spirit (4:4; 42:1; 48:16; 59:21; 61:1; Luke 3:22), the Agent for establishing God’s kingdom (Gen. 1:1, 2; Judg. 3:10; 6:34; 1 Sam. 10:6). The first readers of the Hebrew Scriptures likely thought that the term Spirit was just another way of speaking of God with awe or wonder. In the New Testament, we learn that the term refers to the third Person of the Trinity (see Matt. 28:19). Solomon prayed for wisdom and understanding (1 Kin. 3:9), the administrative skill to govern the people according to the principles of righteousness and justice (Deut. 1:15-17). The Messiah will embody all this; He will be the ideal King (33:6). The Holy Spirit’s counsel is not advice, but authoritative plans and decisions. the fear of the LORD: The Messiah would demonstrate in all His life the correct response to God: He would honor and obey Him (Ex. 20:20). The people of God in all ages are under orders to respond to Him with reverential awe (Lev. 19:14; Prov. 19:23).

11:3 Delight refers to the sense of smell. There may be an allusion to the incense burned at a coronation ceremony. Whereas “fear of God” usually means a standard of moral conduct known and accepted by humankind in general, the fear of the LORD in this case may refer to the standard of moral conduct known through special revelation and accepted by the faithful.<sup>5</sup>

<sup>2</sup>The Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon Him, The Spirit of wisdom and understanding, The Spirit of counsel and might, The Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the LORD.

John 7:24

<sup>24</sup>Do not judge according to appearance, but judge with righteous judgment.”<sup>6</sup>

THE PEACEABLE KINGDOM

11:1–10 The Book of Isaiah seems to be largely about God’s judgment—His wrath on Judah (Is. 5), Israel (7:1–10:4), and Assyria (10:5–23). The Lord promises to cut down these arrogant kingdoms as a logger cuts down the massive cedars of Lebanon (10:33–34). But after the crash of timber comes a comforting vision of peace (11:1–10).

God promises to raise up a Rod and Branch out of the stump and roots of His people (11:1). Ultimately this refers to Christ, who will lead His people into the state which the Lord intended for them all along. (It has also been suggested that the prophecy was partially fulfilled when God preserved a remnant out of the ruins of Israel.)

The peaceable kingdom involves transformed relationships, places, and societies, as symbolized by peace between animals that are normally enemies (11:6–7). Moreover, the Spirit and fear of the Lord will help leaders rule with justice, righteousness, and faithfulness (11:2–5).

Ultimately, this vision cannot come about completely until Christ Himself assumes power. But even today it can serve as an ideal for God’s people to pursue as they live and work in the world’s societies, systems, and institutions. Renewal is God’s work, but God’s people can make a difference, especially if they are Spirit-led and fear the Lord (11:2–5). By promoting justice for the poor and equity for the meek, they can bring something of God’s peaceable kingdom to pass. The world desperately seeks peace, but as Isaiah shows, peace is largely the fruit of a just society.<sup>7</sup>

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

- Does it separate us from those who do not believe in it?
- Does it separate us from those who have not received it?
- What happens to me? Why do I 'need' this?

It is not the baptism of the Holy Ghost which changes men, but the power of the ascended Christ coming into men's lives by the Holy Ghost that changes them. We too often divorce what the New Testament never divorces: The baptism of the Holy Ghost is not an experience apart from Jesus Christ - it is the evidence of the ascended Christ.

Acts 2:33

<sup>33</sup> Exalted to the right hand of God, he has received from the Father the promised Holy Spirit and has poured out what you now see and hear.

#1. Did I receive the Holy Spirit when I was saved? {ie. Pilot Light}

Eph 1:13-14 (also 4:30) describes the Holy Spirit as what? {deposit guaranteeing}

<sup>13</sup> And you also were included in Christ when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation. When you believed, you were marked in him with a seal, the promised Holy Spirit, <sup>14</sup> who is a deposit guaranteeing our inheritance until the redemption of those who are God's possession—to the praise of his glory.

John 14:16-17 declares the Holy Spirit is where and will be where? {lives with and will be IN} <sup>16</sup> And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another advocate to help you and be with you forever—<sup>17</sup> the Spirit of truth. The world cannot accept him, because it neither sees him nor knows him. But you know him, for he lives with you and will be in you.

Romans 8:14-16 tells us the Spirit does what at Salvation? {Testifies w/our spirit that we are His children}

<sup>14</sup> For those who are led by the Spirit of God are the children of God. <sup>15</sup> The Spirit you received does not make you slaves, so that you live in fear again; rather, the Spirit you received brought about your adoption to sonship. And by him we cry, "Abba, Father." <sup>16</sup> The Spirit himself testifies with our spirit that we are God's children.

- Are Salvation and Baptism in the Holy Spirit the same thing? Acts 8:12-17
{Separate from salvation and follows the New Birth experience.}

<sup>12</sup> But when they believed Philip as he proclaimed the good news of the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. <sup>13</sup> Simon himself believed and was baptized. And he followed Philip everywhere, astonished by the great signs and miracles he saw.

<sup>14</sup> When the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to Samaria. <sup>15</sup> When they arrived, they prayed for the new believers there that they might receive the Holy Spirit, <sup>16</sup> because the Holy Spirit had not yet come on any of them; they had simply been baptized into the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>17</sup> Then Peter and John placed their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

- Jesus told them to wait /tarry in Jerusalem for what? Acts 1:4-8
{The "promise of the Father" and be baptized in the Holy Spirit}

"On one occasion, while He was eating with them, He gave them this command: "Do not leave Jerusalem, but wait for the gift my Father promised, which you have heard me speak about. For John baptized with (in) water, but in a few days you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit."

So when they met together, they asked Him, "Lord, are you at this time going to restore the kingdom to Israel?" He said to them: "It is not for you to know the times or dates the Father has set by His own authority. But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth."

{Ask for their questions:

What do tongues sound like?

Will I look or sound foolish?

Does everyone sound the same?

Who initiates speaking in tongues?

{Although the believer is the one speaking, the unknown language is initiated, direct, and provided by the Spirit. The believer surrenders his or her tongue to the Holy Spirit, trusting Him fully to speak through him or her.}

- Acts 2:1-7

<sup>1</sup> When the day of Pentecost came, they were all together in one place.

<sup>2</sup> Suddenly a sound like the blowing of a violent wind came from heaven and filled the whole house where they were sitting.

<sup>3</sup> They saw what seemed to be tongues of fire that separated and came to rest on each of them.

<sup>4</sup> All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues <sup>[a]</sup> as the Spirit enabled them. Footnotes: a. Acts 2:4 Or languages; also in verse 11

What happened to EACH believer in the room? {All were filled with the Holy Spirit.}

What physical sign indicated that the believers had been baptized in the Holy Spirit? {Spoke in tongues.}

WHO enabled the believers to speak in other tongues? {Holy Spirit}

<sup>5</sup> Now there were staying in Jerusalem God-fearing Jews from every nation under heaven. <sup>6</sup> When they heard this sound, a crowd came together in bewilderment, because each one heard their own language being spoken. <sup>7</sup> Utterly amazed, they asked: "Aren't all these who are speaking Galileans?"

The history of wind and fire in the Old Testament

Wind and fire are used repeatedly in the Bible as symbols of divine presence and power. God spoke to Moses from the burning bush (Ex. 3:1-4), led the Israelites by night in a pillar of fire (Ex. 13:21), and descended on Mount Sinai in fire (Deut.

4). God rides the wind (Ps. 18:10), His judgment is seen as a mighty wind (Is. 11:15; Jer. 30:23), and His way is in the whirlwind (Nahum 1:3). In keeping with this symbolism, supernatural wind and fire preceded the initial outpouring of the Holy Spirit to show that God himself was in this incredible event. These signs are not seen again in Scripture.

- Acts 8:12-19

<sup>12</sup> But when they believed Philip as he proclaimed the good news of the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. <sup>13</sup> Simon himself believed and was baptized. And he followed Philip everywhere, astonished by the great signs and miracles he saw.

<sup>14</sup> When the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to Samaria. <sup>15</sup> When they arrived, they prayed for the new believers there that they might receive the Holy Spirit, <sup>16</sup> because the Holy Spirit had not yet come on any of them; they had simply been baptized into <sup>[a]</sup> the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>17</sup> Then Peter and John placed their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit. <sup>18</sup> When Simon saw that the Spirit was given at the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money <sup>19</sup> and said, "Give me also this ability so that everyone on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit."

- Acts 9:17-19

<sup>17</sup> Then Ananias went to the house and entered it. Placing his hands on Saul, he said, "Brother Saul, the Lord—Jesus, who appeared to you on the road as you were coming here—has sent me so that you may see again and be filled with the Holy Spirit." <sup>18</sup> Immediately, something like scales fell from Saul's eyes, and he could see again. He got up and was baptized, <sup>19</sup> and after taking some food, he regained his strength.

(1 Corinthians 14:18: I thank God that I speak in tongues more than all of you.)

- Acts 10:44-46

<sup>44</sup> While Peter was still speaking these words, the Holy Spirit came on all who heard the message. <sup>45</sup> The circumcised believers who had come with Peter were astonished that the gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out even on Gentiles. <sup>46</sup> For they heard them speaking in tongues <sup>[a]</sup> and praising God. Footnotes: a. - Acts 11:12-16 (Peter retells Acts 10:44-46 to the Brethren in Jerusalem)

<sup>12</sup> The Spirit told me to have no hesitation about going with them. These six brothers also went with me, and we entered the man's house. <sup>13</sup> He told us how he had seen an angel appear in his house and say, 'Send to Joppa for Simon who is called Peter. <sup>14</sup> He will bring you a message through which you and all your household will be saved.' <sup>15</sup> "As I began to speak, the Holy Spirit came on them as he had come on us at the beginning. <sup>16</sup> Then I remembered what the Lord had said: 'John baptized with <sup>[a]</sup> water, but you will be baptized with <sup>[b]</sup> the Holy Spirit.

- Acts 19:4-7

<sup>4</sup> Paul said, "John's baptism was a baptism of repentance. He told the people to believe in the one coming after him, that is, in Jesus." <sup>5</sup> On hearing this, they were baptized into <sup>[a]</sup> the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>6</sup> When Paul placed his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they spoke in tongues <sup>[b]</sup> and prophesied. <sup>7</sup> There were about twelve men in all.

Speaking in Tongues: The Spirit Seeking Expression

#3. Who is eligible for the Baptism in the Holy Spirit?

Acts 15:7-9

<sup>7</sup> After much discussion, Peter got up and addressed them: "Brothers, you know that some time ago God made a choice among you that the Gentiles might hear from my lips the message of the gospel and believe. <sup>8</sup> God, who knows the heart, showed that he accepted them by giving the Holy Spirit to them, just as he did to us. <sup>9</sup> He did not discriminate between us and them, for he purified their hearts by faith.

#4. Why Should I want more of the Holy Spirit?

- What is our primary motivation for seeking this Baptism?

Acts 1:4-8 {Baptism is a distinct, separate experience that empowers believers to witness.}

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

<sup>4</sup> On one occasion, while he was eating with them, he gave them this command: "Do not leave Jerusalem, but wait for the gift my Father promised, which you have heard me speak about. <sup>5</sup> For John baptized with <sup>l</sup>water, but in a few days you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit." <sup>6</sup> So when they met together, they asked him, "Lord, are you at this time going to restore the kingdom to Israel?" <sup>7</sup> He said to them: "It is not for you to know the times or dates the Father has set by his own authority. <sup>8</sup> But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth."

"Power" (dunamis) = energy, power, might, great force, great ability, strength.

- Other reasons we should want more of the Holy Spirit:

John 14:26 {He will teach and remind us of what Christ has said.}

But the Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you all things and will remind you of everything I have said to you.

John 15:26 {Because He is the Spirit of truth. He testifies of Christ.}

"When the Advocate comes, whom I will send to you from the Father—the Spirit of truth who goes out from the Father—he will testify about me."

John 16:7-15 <sup>7</sup> But very truly I tell you, it is for your good that I am going away. Unless I go away, the Advocate will not come to you; but if I go, I will send him to you. <sup>8</sup> When he comes, he will prove the world to be in the wrong about sin and righteousness and judgment: <sup>9</sup> about sin, because people do not believe in me; <sup>10</sup> about righteousness, because I am going to the Father, where you can see me no longer; <sup>11</sup> and about judgment, because the prince of this world now stands condemned.

a. Verses 8-11: He will convict world of sin.

<sup>12</sup> "I have much more to say to you, more than you can now bear. <sup>13</sup> But when he, the Spirit of truth, comes, he will guide you into all the truth. He will not speak on his own; he will speak only what he hears, and he will tell you what is yet to come.

b. Verse 13: He will guide you into all truth – discernment, insight, wisdom, knowledge.

c. Verse 13: {He will tell you things to come. {Prophecy, Word of wisdom, Word of knowledge.}

<sup>14</sup> He will glorify me because it is from me that he will receive what he will make known to you.

d. Verse 14: He will glorify Jesus.

<sup>15</sup> All that belongs to the Father is mine. That is why I said the Spirit will receive from me what he will make known to you."

e. Verse 14-15: He will take what is Jesus' and declare it to you.

{Extra notes for verses 8-11}

The Holy Spirit will create an inner witness, awareness of our own sin but the Holy Spirit condemns the world by the very fact He is here instead of Christ being here to reign as the world, as we rejected Him. The Holy Spirit's presence is a constant witness to this crime.

Vs. 10 The Savior claimed to be righteous, but men said He had a demon. God spoke the final word. He said, in effect, "My Son is righteous, and I will prove it by raising Him from the dead and taking Him back to heaven." The Holy Spirit witnesses to the fact that Christ was right and the world was wrong.

Vs. 11 The presence of the Holy Spirit also convicts the world of coming judgment. The fact that He is here means that the devil has already been condemned at the cross and that all who refuse the Savior will share his awful judgment in a day yet future. }

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Acts 2:1-4 {To speak in tongues as an evidence of baptism.}

<sup>1</sup> When the day of Pentecost came, they were all together in one place. <sup>2</sup> Suddenly a sound like the blowing of a violent wind came from heaven and filled the whole house where they were sitting. <sup>3</sup> They saw what seemed to be tongues of fire that separated and came to rest on each of them. <sup>4</sup> All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues<sup>[u]</sup> as the Spirit enabled them.

1 Corinthians 14:2-4 {For self edification.}

<sup>2</sup> For those who speak in a tongue<sup>[u]</sup> do not speak to other people but to God. Indeed, no one understands them; they utter mysteries by the Spirit. <sup>3</sup> But those who prophesy speak to people for their strengthening, encouragement and comfort. <sup>4</sup> Those who speak in a tongue edify themselves, but those who prophesy edify the church.

1 Corinthians 14:5 {When accompanied by interpretation, it spiritually edifies the church.}

I would like every one of you to speak in tongues,<sup>[u]</sup> but I would rather have you prophesy. Those who prophesy are greater than those who speak in tongues,<sup>[u]</sup> unless they interpret, so that the church may be edified.

1 Corinthians 14:13-17 {Private worship and communication with God.}

<sup>13</sup> For this reason those who speak in a tongue should pray that they may interpret what they say. <sup>14</sup> For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays, but my mind is unfruitful. <sup>15</sup> So what shall I do? I will pray with my spirit, but I will also pray with my understanding; I will sing with my spirit, but I will also sing with my understanding. <sup>16</sup> Otherwise when you are praising God in the Spirit, how can the others, who are now put in the same situation as an inquirer, say "Amen" to your thanksgiving, since they do not know what you are saying? <sup>17</sup> You are giving thanks well enough, but the others are not edified.

Jude 20 {So we can pray in the Spirit.}

But you, dear friends, by building yourselves up in your most holy faith and praying in the Holy Spirit,

Romans 8:26-27 {Because the Spirit intercedes for us.}

<sup>26</sup> In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weakness. We do not know what we ought to pray for, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us through wordless groans. <sup>27</sup> And he who searches our hearts knows the mind of the Spirit, because the Spirit intercedes for God's people in accordance with the will of God.

Also see: 1 Corinthians 14:14; Ephesians 6:18

Acts 4:31 {To be filled with boldness.}

After they prayed, the place where they were meeting was shaken. And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and spoke the word of God boldly (Also see Acts 2:14-16 & Luke 22:55-62 in Homework section below.)

"Boldness" (parrhesia) = outspokenness, unreserved utterance, freedom of speech, with frankness, candor, cheerful courage. The opposite of cowardice, timidity or fear.

2 Corinthians 1:21-22 {Confirms our salvation.}

<sup>21</sup> Now it is God who makes both us and you stand firm in Christ. He anointed us,<sup>22</sup> set his seal of ownership on us, and put his Spirit in our hearts as a deposit, guaranteeing what is to come.

John 7:37-39 {Flowing of the Spirit from within.}

<sup>37</sup> On the last and greatest day of the Festival, Jesus stood and said in a loud voice, "Let anyone who is thirsty come to me and drink. <sup>38</sup> Whoever believes in me, as Scripture has said, rivers of living water will flow from within them." <sup>39</sup> By this he meant the Spirit, whom those who believed in him were later to receive. Up to that time the Spirit had not been given, since Jesus had not yet been glorified.

Footnotes: a. John 7:38 Or me. And let anyone drink <sup>38</sup>who believes in me." As Scripture has said, "Out of him (or them) will flow rivers of living water."

#6. Hindrances:

(Use the IN CHRIST handout during prayer time. Have them repeat after you. )

#7. Further Information:

- We need the Holy Spirit to acknowledge who Jesus Christ is.

1 Corinthians 12:3

<sup>3</sup> Therefore I want you to know that no one who is speaking by the Spirit of God says, "Jesus be cursed," and no one can say, "Jesus is Lord," except by the Holy Spirit.

- The difference between the Initial Physical Evidence and the Gift of tongues (or message in tongues) is purpose and use. (See the Distinctive Doctrine pamphlet.)

1 Corinthians 12:4-11, 28-30

<sup>4</sup> There are different kinds of gifts, but the same Spirit distributes them. <sup>5</sup> There are different kinds of service, but the same Lord. <sup>6</sup> There are different kinds of working, but in all of them and in everyone it is the same God at work.

<sup>7</sup> Now to each one the manifestation of the Spirit is given for the common good. <sup>8</sup> To one there is given through the Spirit a message of wisdom, to another a message of knowledge by means of the same Spirit, <sup>9</sup> to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healing by that one Spirit, <sup>10</sup> to another miraculous powers, to another prophecy, to another distinguishing between spirits, to another speaking in different kinds of tongues, and to still another the interpretation of tongues. <sup>11</sup> All these are the work of one and the same Spirit, and he distributes them to each one, just as he determines.

What is the difference between:

- Speaking in Tongues' when one is baptized in the Spirit.
Known as the Initial Physical Evidence (Acts 2:4; 10:46; 19:6)
- 'Speaking in Tongues' publicly (prophetic)
As a gift to edify the church (1 Corinthians 12:10)
As a sign for unbelievers (1 Corinthians 14:22)
- 'Praying in Tongues' in one's private prayer life
As an effective provision for effective prayer and praise (1 Corinthians 14:2, 4; 14:18)

Tongues is the same gift in all the above but different in purpose.

B. The standard of not being ignorant concerning Spiritual Gift has no expiration date.

- The group understanding the spoken tongues as native language only applies to the initial incident. It never shows up again in scripture. Why? Acts 2
- Years later, why does Paul give thanks that he still is speaking in tongues? The church is already established. He does not say stop. Why?

One in Christ

<sup>11</sup> Therefore remember that at one time you Gentiles in the flesh, called "the uncircumcision" by what is called the circumcision, which is made in the flesh by hands— <sup>12</sup> remember that you were at that time separated from Christ, alienated from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world. <sup>13</sup> But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ. <sup>14</sup> For he himself is our peace, who has made us both one and has broken down in his flesh the dividing wall of hostility <sup>15</sup> by abolishing the law of commandments expressed in ordinances, that he might create in himself one new man in place of the two, so making peace, <sup>16</sup> and might reconcile us both to God in one body through the cross, thereby killing the hostility. <sup>17</sup> And he came and preached peace to you who were far off and peace to those who were near. <sup>18</sup> For through him we both have access in one Spirit to the Father. <sup>19</sup> So then you are no longer strangers and aliens, <sup>[d]</sup> but you are fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God, <sup>20</sup> built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Christ Jesus himself being the cornerstone, <sup>21</sup> in whom the whole structure, being joined together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord. <sup>22</sup> In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God by <sup>[e]</sup> the Spirit.

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Chapters 9–11 of Romans all address the problem of Jewish unbelief. In chapter 9 the emphasis was on God's purpose according to election; the emphasis of chapter 10, however, is on the human factors, on the need for an understanding of the gospel (5–13), for the proclamation of the gospel (14–15), and for the response of faith (16–21). With chapter 10 Paul turns from the past to the present, from his explanation of the Israelites' unbelief to his hope that they will yet hear and believe the gospel. This vision for the future he will elaborate further in chapter 11.

1. Israel's ignorance of the righteousness of God (1–4)

Paul begins this chapter, as he began the last, with a very personal reference to his love and longing for 'them'. In the Greek sentence they are not specified, but NIV is certainly right to insert the Israelites. There are several similarities between the openings of the two chapters. In both Paul mentions his heart: his heart's sorrow and anguish because the unbelieving people of Israel are lost (9:2f.), and his heart's desire and prayer to God ... that they may be saved (1). J. B. Phillips catches the earnestness of the apostle's cry: 'My brothers, from the bottom of my heart I long and pray to God that Israel may be saved!' At the beginning of chapter 9 he expresses the hypothetical wish that he himself might be cursed if thereby they could be spared (9:3); at the beginning of chapter 10 he expresses an ardent, prayerful wish for their salvation. Moreover, as his pain is increased by their combination of privilege and prejudice (9:4f.), so his longing is increased by their combination of zeal and ignorance (2).

Paul has no doubt of their religious sincerity. He can testify about them from his own experience that they are zealous for God. And he knows what he is talking about, because he himself in his pre-conversion life was 'extremely zealous' in his religion, as seen in his persecution of the church.<sup>2</sup> Indeed he was 'just as zealous for God' as any of his contemporaries, and could even describe his zeal at that time as an 'obsession'.<sup>4</sup> So he is obliged to say of the Israelites that their zeal is not based on knowledge (2). Yet Scripture says that 'it is not good to have zeal without knowledge'. Sincerity is not enough, for we may be sincerely mistaken. The proper word for zeal without knowledge, commitment without reflection, or enthusiasm without understanding, is fanaticism. And fanaticism is a horrid and dangerous state to be in.

Having asserted their general condition of ignorance, Paul now particularizes in two negatives: they did not know the righteousness that comes from God and they did not submit to God's righteousness. Instead, they sought to establish their own (3). Recent commentators who have accepted Professor E. P. Sanders' thesis of 'covenantal nomism' offer an interpretation of this verse which is very different from the traditional understanding. Professor Dunn, for example, argues that the Jews were right to see 'righteousness' as obedience to the law and so loyalty to the covenant (the meaning of 'covenantal nomism'), but wrong to construe it in terms of circumcision, sabbath observance, dietary regulations and ritual purity. This understanding of the law was not only 'too superficial' but also 'too nationalistic',<sup>7</sup> because it disenfranchised the Gentiles whom God wanted to include. 'Their own righteousness', therefore, meant a righteousness which was peculiarly and exclusively their own, and was being contrasted not with God's but with other people's. And their attempt to 'establish' this righteousness of their own was an act not of creation (producing something out of nothing) but of confirmation (preserving what was already in existence, namely their covenant membership and righteousness). What Paul objected to was 'Israel's attempt to maintain a claim of national monopoly to that covenant righteousness'.<sup>9</sup> What then does it mean that Christ is the end of the law ... (4)? What Christ terminated was not the law as the way of attaining a righteous standing before God, but 'the law seen as a way ... of documenting God's special regard for Israel, of marking Israel out from the other nations ...'.

What disturbs me about this attempted reconstruction, I confess, is not so much what is being affirmed (for the Jews were ethnically exclusive), but what is being denied. For example, the statement that 'their own righteousness' is not being contrasted with God's is plainly not so in 10:3, and more plainly still in Philippians 3:9. I think the Jews (like all human beings) were more self-righteous than Professors Sanders and Dunn allow. As Calvin justly commented, 'the first step to obtaining the righteousness of God is to renounce our own righteousness'.

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

To other commentators the assertion that the Jews did not know the righteousness that comes from God means that they had not yet learned the way of salvation, how the righteous God puts the unrighteous right with himself by bestowing upon them a righteous status. This is ‘the righteousness of God’ which is revealed in the gospel, and is received by faith altogether apart from the law, as Paul has written earlier (1:17; 3:21). The tragic consequence of the Jews’ ignorance was that, recognizing their need of righteousness if they were ever to stand in God’s righteous presence, they sought to establish their own, and they did not submit to God’s righteousness (3).

This ignorance of the true way, and this tragic adoption of the false way, are by no means limited to Jewish people. They are widespread among religious people of all faiths, including professing Christians. All human beings, who know that God is righteous and they are not (since ‘there is no-one righteous, not even one’, 3:10), naturally look around for a righteousness which might fit them to stand in God’s presence. There are only two possible options before us. The first is to attempt to build or establish our own righteousness, by our good works and religious observances. But this is doomed to failure, since in God’s sight even ‘all our righteous acts are like filthy rags’. The other way is to submit to God’s righteousness by receiving it from him as a free gift through faith in Jesus Christ.<sup>13</sup> In verses 5–6 Paul calls the first the righteousness that is by the law and the second the righteousness that is by faith.

The fundamental error of those who are seeking to establish their own righteousness is that they have not understood Paul’s next affirmation: Christ is the end (telos) of the law so that there may be righteousness for everyone who believes (4). Telos could mean ‘end’ in the sense of ‘goal’ or ‘completion’, indicating that the law pointed to Christ and that he has fulfilled it. Or it could mean ‘end’ in the sense of ‘termination’ or ‘conclusion’, indicating that Christ has abrogated the law. Paul must surely mean the latter. But the abrogation of the law gives no legitimacy either to antinomians, who claim that they can sin as they please because they are ‘not under law but under grace’ (6:1, 15), or to those who maintain that the very category of ‘law’ has been abolished by Christ and that the only absolute left is the command to love. When Paul wrote that we have ‘died’ to the law, and been ‘released’ from it (7:4, 6), so that we are no longer ‘under’ it (6:15), he was referring to the law as the way of getting right with God. Hence the second part of verse 4. The reason Christ has terminated the law is so that there may be righteousness for everyone who believes. In respect of salvation, Christ and the law are incompatible alternatives. If righteousness is by the law it is not by Christ, and if it is by Christ through faith it is not by the law. Christ and the law are both objective realities, both revelations and gifts of God. But now that Christ has accomplished our salvation by his death and resurrection, he has terminated the law in that role. ‘Once we grasp the decisive nature of Christ’s saving work’, writes Dr Leon Morris, ‘we see the irrelevance of all legalism.’

2. Alternative ways of righteousness (5–13)

Paul has already stated three antitheses—between faith and works (9:32), between God’s righteousness to which we should submit and our own righteousness which we mistakenly seek to establish (3), and between Christ and the law (4). Now he draws out the implications of the latter by contrasting the righteousness that is by the law (5) with the righteousness that is by faith (6). He does so by appealing to Scripture, quoting a text on each side. He thus sets Moses against Moses, that is, Moses in Leviticus against Moses in Deuteronomy.

On the one hand, Moses describes in this way the righteousness that is by the law: ‘The man who does these things will live by them’ (5). The natural interpretation of these words is that the way to life (i.e. salvation) is by obedience to the law. This is how Paul himself understood the sentence when he quoted it in Galatians 3:12. But ‘clearly’, he added in that context, ‘no-one is justified before God by the law’, because no-one has succeeded in obeying it. The weakness of the law is our own weakness (8:3). Because we disobey it, instead of bringing us life it brings us under its curse, and that would be our position still if Christ had not redeemed us from the law’s curse by becoming a curse for us. It is in this sense that ‘Christ is the end of the law’. Righteousness is not to be found that way.

So, on the other hand, the righteousness that is by faith, which Paul now personifies, proclaims a different message. It sets before us for salvation not the law but Christ, and assures us that unlike the law, Christ is not unattainable, but readily accessible. The passage Paul quotes (from Dt. 30) begins with a stern prohibition, which the righteousness by faith endorses: ‘Do not say in your heart, “Who will ascend into heaven?” (that is, to bring Christ down) (6) or “Who will descend into the deep?” (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead)’ (7). To ask such questions would be as absurd as they are unnecessary. There is no need whatever for us to scale the heights or plumb the depths in search of Christ, for he has already come, died and risen, and so is accessible to us.

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

What, then, is the positive message of the righteousness of faith? What does it say? ‘The word is near you; it is in your mouth and in your heart’, that is, Paul explains, the word of faith (the message requiring a response of faith, i.e. the gospel) which we (apostles) are proclaiming (8). Taking his cue from the reference to the people’s ‘mouth’ and ‘heart’ in Deuteronomy 30:14, just quoted, Paul now summarizes the gospel in these terms: That if you confess with your mouth, ‘Jesus is Lord’ (the earliest and simplest of all Christian creeds), and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved (9). Thus heart and mouth, inward belief and outward confession, belong essentially together. ‘Confession without faith would be vain ... But likewise faith without confession would be shown to be spurious.’ For it is with your heart that you believe and are justified, and it is with your mouth that you confess and are saved (10). The parallelism is reminiscent of Hebrew poetry in the Old Testament, and the two clauses in verses 9–10 are to be held together rather than separately. Thus, there is no substantive difference here between being ‘justified’ and being ‘saved’. Similarly, the content of the belief and that of the confession need to be merged. Implicit in the good news are the truths that Jesus Christ died, was raised, was exalted, and now reigns as Lord and bestows salvation on those who believe. This is not salvation by slogan but by faith, that is, by an intelligent faith which lays hold of Christ as the crucified and resurrected Lord and Saviour. This is the positive message of ‘the righteousness that is by faith’.

But is Paul’s use of Deuteronomy 30:11–14 legitimate? Or is he guilty of an unprincipled allegorization, and of reading into Scripture what is not there? We begin by noting that his only actual quotation (as opposed to allusion) is Deuteronomy 30:14, which is reproduced almost exactly in verse 8: ‘the word is near you; it is in your mouth and in your heart’. There Paul stops, for the Deuteronomy text goes on to say that the reason the word was near them was ‘so that you may obey it’, whereas Paul calls it ‘the word of faith’. How then can Paul take a verse about the law which is to be obeyed and apply it to the gospel which is to be believed? It sounds a fundamental contradiction, especially while he is commending ‘righteousness by faith’. But it is not.

How does Paul use the Deuteronomy passage? He is not claiming either that Moses explicitly foretold the death and resurrection of Jesus, or that he preached the gospel under the guise of the law. No. The similarity he sees and stresses between Moses’ teaching and the apostles’ gospel lies in their easy accessibility. He knows that Moses began this part of his speech (although he does not quote it) by telling the Israelites that his teaching was neither ‘too difficult’ for them nor ‘beyond their reach’. Moses went on, using dramatic imagery, that it was neither up in heaven nor beyond the sea—remote, unrevealed and unknown—so that they would have to find someone to ascend into heaven or cross the sea in order to bring it to them. On the contrary, his teaching was very near them. They knew it already. Far from being above or beyond them, it was actually inside them, in their hearts and in their mouths.

What Moses had said about his teaching, Paul now affirms about the gospel. It is neither remote nor unavailable. There is no need to ask who will ascend to heaven to bring Christ down or descend to Hades to bring Christ up. Storming the ramparts of heaven and potholing in Hades, in search of Christ, are equally unnecessary. For Christ has come and died, and been raised, and is therefore immediately accessible to faith. We do not need to do anything. Everything that is necessary has already been done. Moreover, because Christ himself is near, the gospel of Christ is also near. It is in the heart and mouth of every believer. The whole emphasis is on the close, ready, easy accessibility of Christ and his gospel.

Verses 11–13 build on this. They stress that Christ is not only easily accessible, but equally accessible to all, to anyone (11) and to everyone (13), since there is no difference (12), no favouritism. All three verses refer to Christ and affirm his availability to faith, although each describes in different terms both the nature of faith and how Christ responds to believers. In verse 11 we ‘trust in him’ and will never be put to shame. In verse 12 we call on him, and he richly blesses us. In verse 13 we call on the name of the Lord and are saved. Let us now consider the three verses separately.

Still Standing

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

First, verse 11: As the Scripture says, 'Anyone who trusts in him will never be put to shame.' This is a second quotation of Isaiah 28:16, the first having been in 9:33. The designation of saving faith as 'trust' shows that the 'belief' and the 'confession' of the two previous verses (9–10) are not to be understood as a mere subscription to credal formulae.

Secondly, verse 12: For there is no difference between Jew and Gentile—the same Lord is Lord of all and richly blesses all who call on him. It is a marvellous affirmation that through Christ there is no distinction between Jew and Gentile. Of course there is a fundamental distinction between those who seek righteousness by the law and those who seek it by faith. But between those who have been justified by faith and are now in Christ, all distinctions, not only of race, but also of sex and culture, are not so much abolished (since Jews are still Jews, Gentiles Gentiles, men men and women women) as rendered irrelevant. Just as there is no distinction between us because in Adam we are all sinners (3:22f.), so now there is no distinction between us because in Christ, who is Lord of all, all who call on him are richly blessed. Far from impoverishing us, we all receive his 'unsearchable riches'.

In the third verse (13) both our calling on him and his blessing of us are elaborated. To call on him is, more precisely, to call on the name of the Lord, that is, to appeal to him to save us in accordance with who he is and what he has done. Everyone who thus calls on him, we are assured, will be saved (13). In the first place this is a quotation from Joel 2:32. But Peter cited it on the day of Pentecost, transferring the text from Yahweh to Jesus, which is also what Paul does here. Indeed, this appeal to Jesus for salvation became so characteristic of Christian people that Paul could describe the worldwide community as 'those everywhere who call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ'.<sup>21</sup>

What then, according to this section, is necessary to salvation? First the fact of the historic Jesus Christ, incarnate, crucified, risen, reigning as Lord, and accessible. Secondly, the apostolic gospel, the word of faith (8), which makes him known. Thirdly, simple trust on the part of the hearers, calling on the name of the Lord, combining faith in the heart and confession with the mouth. But still something is missing. There is, fourthly, the evangelist who proclaims Christ and urges people to put their trust in him. It is of Christian evangelists that Paul writes in the next paragraph.<sup>8</sup>

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

BIBLE BACKGROUND:

THE DYNAMICS OF CONFESSION OF SIN DAVID

Psalm 51

Comment

Have mercy upon me, O God,
According to Your
lovingkindness;
According to the multitude of
Your tender mercies,
Blot out my transgressions.
Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity,
And cleanse me from my sin.

David's only hope was that God would be merciful. He realized that he had no other basis on which to appeal for forgiveness.

For I acknowledge my transgressions,
And my sin is always before me.
Against You, You only, have I
sinned,
And done this evil in Your sight—
That You may be found just when You speak,
And blameless when You judge.

*David took full responsibility for his actions.
He admitted that he had violated God's moral law, and that his sin had been against God first and foremost.*

Behold, I was brought forth
in iniquity,
And in sin my mother
conceived me.
Behold, you desire truth in the inward parts,
And in the hidden part You will make me to know wisdom.

David's self-examination made him realize that acts of sin were not the main problem: David was a sinner by nature.

Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean;
Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.
Make me hear joy and gladness,

Only God could cleanse David from guilt, and change him within.

That the bones you have broken may rejoice.
Hide your face from my sins,
and blot out all my iniquities.

Create in me a clean heart,
O God,
And renew a steadfast spirit
within me.
Do not cast me away from
Your presence,
And do not take Your Holy Spirit from me.

David continued to appeal for a changed heart. Only God's active presence in his life could keep David from sinning again and again.

Restore to me the joy of
Your salvation,
And uphold me by Your generous Spirit.
Then I will teach transgressors
Your ways,

*Restored by God's grace, David displayed the joy of salvation, and by his example showed sinners
the way back to God.*

Still Standing Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

And sinners shall be converted to You.

Deliver me from the guilt of bloodshed, O God,
The God of my salvation,
And my tongue shall sing
aloud of Your righteousness.
O LORD, open my lips,
And my mouth shall show
forth Your praise.
For You do not desire sacrifice, or else I would give it;
You do not delight in burnt offering.
The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit,
A broken and a contrite
heart—
These, O God, You will not despise.

As a sinner, David had to rely on God for salvation and forgiveness. Broken-hearted and humbled, David could only plead for a mercy he did not deserve, but which he would celebrate for the rest of his life.

*David did not repudiate sacrifice, but realized that what God yearns for are hearts fully submitted to Him—a heart
now like David's own.*

Even more significantly, the superscription of Psalm 51 tells us that David delivered Psalm 51 to the nation's chief musician, to be used in public worship! David's sin had become public knowledge; his confession must have been public as well.

Psalm 51 is no spontaneous utterance. It is a carefully crafted poem, revealing how shaken David was by his own behavior and how deeply he had thought about his sin. This psalm is Scripture's most penetrating exploration of personal sin and of the restoration available to the believer through confession. While not a prose prayer, Psalm 51 helps to explain the dynamics of confession in our personal relationship with God.

2 SAMUEL 24:10, 17

"I have sinned greatly in what I have done."

King David decided to conduct a census to determine the number of fighting men in Israel. For some reason not explained in the text, this was a sin. After the process had begun, "David's heart condemned him" (2 Sam. 24:10). David confessed his sin and asked for forgiveness. But this time God gave David a choice of one of three punishments that were national rather than personal in nature. David chose a three-day plague.

During the plague, David had a vision of an awesome angel who was striking the people and their livestock, and he appealed to God again. "Surely I have sinned, and I have done wickedly, but these sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, be against me and against my father's house."

The prophet Gad instructed David to offer a sacrifice on what would be the site of Solomon's temple. There David prayed for the land, "and the plague was withdrawn from Israel" (2 Sam. 24:25).

It is important in reading this story and its parallel in 1 Chronicles 21 to note 2 Samuel 24:1, which introduces the account. There we read that "the anger of the Lord was aroused against Israel." While David's sin was the occasion for the plague, the people of Israel were not as innocent as David supposed.

Within the story itself, we should notice that David's confession and request for forgiveness were heard. David was forgiven. But forgiveness did not imply freedom from consequences. A person who commits adultery can confess the sin and be forgiven. But God's forgiveness doesn't mean there will be no price to pay. A marriage may be destroyed, a disease may be sexually transmitted, or an unwanted pregnancy may occur.

Those who reason, "I'll do what I want now and confess my sin later," don't understand that every act of ours has consequences. God can and will forgive. But forgiveness does not free us from the burden of the consequences of the choices we make.

1 CHRONICLES 21:8

(See the discussion of the parallel passage in 2 Sam. 24, above.)

EZRA 9:6–15

"O my God, I am too ashamed and humiliated to lift up my face to You, my God; for our iniquities have risen higher than our heads, and our guilt has grown up to the heavens."

Ezra was a man trained in the Old Testament. He came to Judah to teach God's Law to the little Jewish community that had returned there after the Babylonian captivity. On Ezra's arrival, he discovered that God's people had intermarried with pagans in the area and were being pulled back into idolatry (Ezra 9:1, 2).

Ezra's first reaction was not to condemn the guilty but to tear his robe as a sign of deep distress and contrition. Then, weeping and confessing, he uttered the public prayer recorded here. Several aspects of this prayer of confession are especially significant.

Still Standing Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Ezra said “we” and “our” (Ezra 9:6). It is a temptation when others sin to distinguish between “me” and “them.” But throughout this prayer, Ezra identified himself with his people. Ezra understood that he was an integral part of the community of faith. He bore some responsibility for the actions of others, even if he didn’t participate in them.

Ezra recalled history (Ezra 9:7–9). The faith community of Ezra’s day was one with that of past generations. The present has been shaped by God’s grace shown toward the fathers, despite the forefathers’ sins. The captivity was a consequence of the iniquity of earlier generations. But God showed His mercy in preserving His people and bringing back the group that had resettled the homeland.

Ezra confessed inexcusable iniquities (Ezra 9:10–14a). In spite of the lessons of history and in spite of God’s mercy, the present generation was repeating the same sins which had brought judgment on the nation. In view of God’s past judgment and mercy, this was both inexcusable and inexplicable.

Ezra’s public confession of Israel’s sin led to a revival.

-----◆-----
Since You our God have punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and have given us such deliverance as this, should we again break Your commandments, and join in marriage with the people committing these abominations? (Ezra 9:13, 14a).

Ezra submitted to God’s judgment (Ezra 9:14a, 15). God had every right to be angry, and even to consume the remnant. All Ezra could do was admit guilt and submit to God’s justice.

Ezra’s public confession of sin moved God’s people deeply. Soon he was joined by a “very large assembly” (Ezra 10:1) weeping and confessing with him. They were joined by those who had offended by marrying pagan wives. The entire community joined in a public commitment to stop the practice, while those who had married pagans divorced them.

While personal and private confession of sins to God is important, we need to understand that public confession of sin is called for at times. David’s private sin was confessed publicly, because it had become a matter of common knowledge. In this situation, where sins had infected and corrupted the faith community, public confession was also called for.

The pattern of confession in Ezra 9 has been duplicated often in church history. Many revivals have begun with confession of sins. When God begins a purifying work in the community of faith, this work nearly always involves public confession of sins.

NEHEMIAH 1:4–11

“Remember, I pray, the word that You commanded Your servant Moses, saying, ‘If you are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the nations; but if you return to Me, and keep My commandments and do them ... yet I will gather them from there, and bring them to the place which I have chosen as a dwelling for My name.’”

Nehemiah, a high Jewish official in the court of the Persian king, was a contemporary of Ezra. Like Ezra, Nehemiah was deeply aware of the sins of his people, and he confessed these sins to the Lord. The prayer recorded here was stimulated by a report that Jerusalem’s walls were still in ruins. Nehemiah sensed a strong conviction that he was called by God to restore the honor of his homeland. While Nehemiah confessed Israel’s sins, he also quoted God’s promise to restore His people when they returned to Him.

Nehemiah’s prayer reminds us of the New Testament promise found in 1 John 1:9. If we confess our sins, God is gracious and just to forgive our sin and cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

DANIEL 9:4–19

“O LORD, great and awesome God, who keeps His covenant and mercy with those who love Him, and with those who keep His commandments, we have sinned and committed iniquity.”

Daniel had read the promise in the book of Jeremiah that after 70 years God would permit His people to return to their homeland from their captivity in Babylon. Daniel, a high Jewish official in the administration of the Babylonian and Persian empires, turned to God to “make request by prayer and supplications, with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes” (Dan. 9:3). These three actions—fasting, dressing in sackcloth, and sitting in ashes—were ways in which Old Testament people showed the sincerity of their grief over sin.

Daniel’s prayer was a mixture of confession and petition. He was deeply aware that exile from the land was a just punishment for his people’s sins. At the same time, Daniel counted on God to keep His promise of a return:

O LORD, hear! O LORD, forgive! O LORD, listen and act! Do not delay for Your own sake, my God, for Your city and Your people are called by Your name” (Dan. 9:19).

PRAYERS OF CONFESSION: A SUMMARY

Genesis portrayed the reaction of Adam and Eve after they ate the forbidden fruit and became aware of their guilt. Genesis 3:8 tells us that when they heard the sound of the Lord God walking in the garden, Adam and Eve “hid themselves.” Awareness of sin made them flee from God.

Perhaps the most striking feature of the personal and public prayers of confession in the Old Testament is that when these saints became aware of their guilt, they turned to God and sought Him out.

What a revelation of the trust that believers can have in the God of Scripture. With David, we know that “You, O LORD, are a God full of compassion and gracious, longsuffering and abundant in mercy and truth” (Ps. 86:15). Without diminishing the seriousness of our sins, we know that if we come to God in repentance, confessing our sins and failures, He will be gracious to us and forgive.

Paul does not say, Work out something that will tell for your salvation; he says, Work out in the expression of your life the salvation God has worked in. If we think for a moment we shall soon know how much we are saved—What does our tongue say? what kind of things do our ears like to listen to? what kind of bodily associates do we like to be with? These things will always tell not only other people but ourselves what kind of salvation God has worked in. In regeneration God works us into relation with Himself that by our bodily expression we may prove Whose we are. If you are trying to be a Christian it is a sure sign you are not one. Fancy trying to be the daughter of your mother! you cannot help being her daughter. But try and be the daughter of someone else’s mother! Unless God has worked in us we shall hinder Him all the time by trying to be His children; we cannot, we have to be born from above (rv mg) by the will of God first, be regenerated; then our working is not working to help God, it is working to let God express through us what He has done in us so that we may prove we are the children of our Father in heaven (see Matthew 5:43–48<sup>9</sup>).

*Matthew 5:43-48 English Standard Version (ESV)
Love Your Enemies*

43 “You have heard that it was said, ‘You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.’ 44 But I say to you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, 45 so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven. For he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust. 46 For if you love those who love you, what reward do you have? Do not even the tax collectors do the same? 47 And if you greet only your brothers, [a] what more are you doing than others? Do not even the Gentiles do the same? 48 You therefore must be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

So many of us put prayer and work and consecration in place of the working of God; we make ourselves the workers. God is the Worker, we work out what He works in. Spirituality is what God is after, not religiosity. The great snare in religion without genuine spirituality is that people ape being good when they are absolutely mean. There is no value whatever in religious externals, the only thing that is of value is spiritual reality, and this is spiritual reality—that I allow God to work in me to will and to do of His good pleasure, and then work out what He has worked in, being carefully careless about everything saving my relationship to God.<sup>10</sup>

FORGIVENESS: GOD’S EXTENDED MERCY

All human beings are sinners and thus the victims of sin’s deadly consequences (Ps. 51:5; Rom. 3:23; 1 John 1:8–10). Ultimately sin breaks the fellowship between God and mankind. God’s forgiveness is the divine means of removing sin and restoring fellowship. His forgiveness is complete (Ps. 103:12; Is. 1:18; Mic. 7:19); it is everlasting (Is. 44:22; Jer. 31:34; Heb. 10:17); it is always available (Ps. 86:5; 1 John 1:9). Various terms are used to describe this process, including cleansing, purifying, purging, and washing (Ps. 51:4–9; Is. 1:16, 43:25; Jer. 33:8). Those who fail to seek God’s forgiveness are subject to being “blotted out” of God’s Book of Life (Ps. 69:28; Rev. 3:5).

Although priestly functions related to forgiveness are prescribed in the Bible (Lev. 4:26), forgiveness is ultimately granted solely by God. Sacrifices are a means of obtaining forgiveness for inadvertent errors (Num. 15:22–29) but do not cover blatant contempt of God (Num. 15:30, 31; Mark 3:29). All rituals related to forgiveness in the Bible are expected to be accompanied by contrition and compassion, as well as penitence and confession (Lev. 5:5, 6; 16:21; Num. 5:6, 7). Rituals and sacrifices alone, however, do not bring forgiveness. We must humble ourselves, acknowledge our wrongs, and resolve to depart from sin (1 Kin. 21:27–29; Is. 1:16, 17; Joel 2:12, 13). When we do this, God gives each one of us a new heart and spirit—a desire and an ability to keep His statutes (Ezek. 36:24–27).

An emphasis is always placed on the translation of true remorse into a positive course of action. Those forgiven cease to do evil (Ps. 15; 24:3–5), begin to do good (Is. 1:17; Jer. 7:3), incline their hearts to the Lord (Josh. 24:23), and, in sum, turn from sin and embrace righteousness. This is “repentance.” When we repent, God forgives (Num. 14:18–20; 2 Chr. 7:14; Is. 55:7; 1 John 1:9). He pardons sin (Mic. 7:18), removes it completely (Ps. 103:12), and remembers it no more (Ps. 25:7). Jesus’ death on the cross provides redemption to all who will accept what He has done on their behalf (Eph. 1:7, 8; Col. 1:14).

CONFESSION: AGREEING WITH GOD

Confession is a significant element in the worship of God in both Old and New Testaments. Declaration and acknowledgment are a part of the believer’s confession of faith. Scripture convicts the individual to acknowledge sin and receive forgiveness (Ps. 32:5; Prov. 28:13; 1 John 1:9). James admonished believers to confess sin to others and restore fellowship (James 5:16). Jesus offered confession of faith and commitment to God (Matt. 10:32, 33; Luke 12:8). Confession is a necessary part of reconciliation and restoration; its opposite is denial of wrongdoing, which leads to alienation within a relationship.

The word confession is a combination of two Greek words, homos, meaning “same,” and leg meaning “to say.” In its truest form, confession is “to say the same” or “to agree.” Believers are called to say the same thing about sin God says—to see sin as God sees it. A theological understanding of confession includes both an acknowledgment of specific sins and a recognition that sin needs to be forgiven.

When the believer confesses personal sin and professes faith in Christ, then God will faithfully and justly forgive sin and cleanse unrighteousness (1 John 1:9). Confession is essential to the believer's relationship with God and to a fellowship with other people. ### SPIRITUAL WARFARE: STRATEGIES

The Strategies of Nehemiah

The Ploys of His Enemies

He took up the work of God (Neh. 2:6–9).

They ridiculed him (Neh. 2:19).

He prayed, acknowledging God's sovereignty and noting the illegitimacy of his enemies (Neh. 2:20).

They mocked him (Neh. 4:1, 2).

He prayed, asking God to take note of his reproach and to refuse to forgive his enemies (Neh. 4:4, 5).

They conspired to attack and create confusion (Neh. 4:7, 8).

He prayed and set a watch (Neh. 4:9), taking necessary precautions (Neh. 4:13), reminding people to fight for their families (Neh. 4:14).

They used oppression from within, the fruit of their own unrighteousness (Neh. 5:1–5).

He led the people to confess, repent, and make restitution (Neh. 5:1–19).

They plotted to harm the leader (Neh. 6:1, 2).

He showed singlemindedness (Neh. 6:3).

They created a distraction (Neh. 6:4) and circulated slander to create fear (Neh. 6:5–7).

He refuted their slander (Neh. 6:8) and prayed for strength (Neh. 6:9).

They developed an insider plot to discredit the leader (Neh. 6:10).

He modeled righteousness (Neh. 6:11), received God's discernment (Neh. 6:12), and prayed, asking God to remember them (Neh. 6:14).

They used covert connections as Tobiah sent letters to frighten Nehemiah and desensitize the people (Neh. 6:19).

He suggested precautions for protecting the gates (Neh. 7:3).

They established insider alliances; Eliahshib gave room to Tobiah (Neh. 13:4, 5).

He expelled the household goods of the enemy (Neh. 13:8).

They continued acts of unrighteousness (Neh. 13:10, 15, 16).

He contended with unrighteousness (Neh. 13:11, 17, 25, 28).

They used compromise, especially in intermarriage (Neh. 13:23–25).

Spiritual warfare begins when the enemy (Satan) perceives that someone is trying to seek God's purposes or to protect the well-being of God's people. Nehemiah drew the attention of his enemies, Sanballat and Tobiah, who were "deeply disturbed" when he began the work of rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem. They employed a variety of strategies to divert Nehemiah from his task. These strategies of the enemy have been used through the generations, even until now. Nehemiah's counterstrategies helped him to persevere and to finish his task.

6:11 Satan's wiles or schemings are directed against the church corporately (Eph. 4:2, 21, 31–32; 5:5) and believers personally (Acts 5:3; 10:38; 1 Tim. 4:1–5). The devil lives up to his name through falsely accusing believers before God (1 John 2:1, 2; Rev. 12:9) and maligning God before believers (Gen. 3:1), as well as through stirring up turmoil in the world by his accusations (James 3:13–16; chart, Names for Satan; A Portrait of the Adversary).

An Expanded Exegesis on Ephesians 6

6:14 The picture of God's armor is of a Roman soldier's tunic, pulled up and tucked into his belt so that he could fight or work unhindered. Living a life of honesty and integrity enables the Christian to be one in purpose with Jesus Christ, who is the Truth, and to be unhindered in the battle against Satan, who is a deceiver and liar (see chart, A Portrait of the Adversary). The breastplate covered the body from neck to thigh and was usually made of bronze. Believers do not need to seek protection or right standing with God through works of their own; they can confidently stand in what Christ has done in their behalf (2 Cor. 5:21).

6:15 The soldier wore sandals with cleats made of sharp nails designed to give firm footing on even the most rugged terrain. "Preparation" may have the sense of readiness to share the gospel to others at a moment's notice. "Preparation" may also refer to a prepared foundation that consists of the gospel of peace with God (Eph. 2:17).

6:16 This long, oblong, or oval shield was crafted from two layers of wood covered with linen or animal hides, bound together with iron. When fighting side by side, soldiers could hold these shields together to form a long wall. Soaked in water, they served as adequate defense against the enemy's "fiery darts"—arrows that had been dipped in pitch and ignited. The shield of faith offers God's unlimited resources of power and wisdom (3:16–21) to resist the fiery darts of distressing circumstances and temptation to evil (1 Cor. 10:13).

6:17 The soldier's bronze helmet had leather attachments to hold it in place. Christians can experience protection from Satan's attacks as they rest confidently in their position as members of God's family (John 1:12, 13), set apart for His purposes (Rom. 15:16; 1 Cor. 1:2; 2 Thess. 2:13). Further, they can know God's present work of sanctification in their lives, experiencing deliverance from sin (Gal. 5:16; Phil. 2:12, 13; Col. 1:10) and having the guarantee of future, eternal deliverance from every kind of evil (1 Thess. 5:8). The short, two-edged sword enabled the heavily-armed soldier to attack deftly and defeat his enemy at close range. The believer's sword may be understood to be either "supplied by the Spirit" or "used by the Spirit." Paul further identified this sword as "the word of God" (see Heb. 4:12). "Word" (Gk. rhema) most probably refers to specific sections of Scripture the Holy Spirit brings to mind to meet a particular need. Jesus' use of specific sections of Deuteronomy in His encounter with Satan in the wilderness exemplifies this (Matt. 4:4, 7, 10).

6:18 Prayer is not listed as a separate weapon of warfare but is rather given an all-encompassing status. Prayer is to be constant (1 Thess. 5:17) as the Christian prepares for battle, engages in it, and rests from it. All kinds of prayer are to be offered through the power of the Holy Spirit<sup>14</sup>

Ephesians 6

Our next passage is one of the best known in all of Scripture, Ephesians 6:10–20. In this passage the apostle Paul is not writing about demonization but about warfare between the power of the Devil and power of God in the life of believers.

The conviction that Ephesians 6 is the manual on victorious spiritual warfare is not new to our age. All through the history of the church, believers, both theologians and lay Christians, have turned to this passage for help, especially in those hours when all the powers of hell seem to have been released against them.

The church fathers continually referred to this passage. A look at the Scripture indexes for the writing of the Ante-Nicene, Nicene and Post-Nicene fathers will reveal how often they turned to these words of Paul. Ephesians 6 was also commented on continually by the great Puritan divines.

First, I want to examine the passage critically. This will mean a somewhat in-depth and almost word-by-word study, where necessary and if space permits. Second, I want to be pastoral. How does Paul's teaching about the spirit world here affect our Christian life? How do we put it into practice? Third, I want to focus on evangelism. How does Paul's teaching enlighten us in the effective evangelization of those blinded by evil spirits against the truth of the Gospel?

In Ephesians 6:10–20 Paul is bringing together all of his warfare teachings. He has brought his readers to the point where they are now ready for his most important teaching on warfare in the entire epistle. Here is the practical application of all he has been saying in Ephesians until now. As Arnold says, Ephesians 6 is Paul's "call to acquire divine strengthening for the purpose of engaging the spirit-forces of evil (Eph. 6:10–20). It is not an irrelevant appendix to the epistle. It is a crucial part of the paraenesis to which the rest of the epistle has been pointing."

Arnold next makes an important comment. He says that this is the only place in the Pauline corpus where believers are explicitly called upon to struggle against the “principalities and powers.” The “struggle” is not merely mentioned as a parenthetical aside. It is taken up by the author and elaborated on in ten verses integrally connected with the foregoing paraenesis of the epistle. (4:1–6:9)

Still Standing

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

He concludes saying that in the 6:10–20 passage we discover again Paul’s “significant emphasis on power.” It is brought about “by the author’s perception of a ‘spiritual warfare’ in which the readers are already engaged. This concept is present in Paul, but it is never elaborated to the degree that it is here.”

Arnold then asks the question why there is such a unique emphasis on cosmic level spiritual warfare in Ephesians. The answers Arnold gives all relate directly to the spirit-magic-occult lifestyle of Ephesus and the surrounding region, centered in the worship of Artemis and the saturation of the culture of Asia Minor (indeed of the Greco-Roman world) with magic, occult, spirit practices.

Ephesians 6:10–20

Paul begins his presentation with “Finally, be strong in the Lord and in the strength of His might” (v. 10).

The word “finally” here is tou loipou in Greek, a common expression in Paul’s epistles, which literally means “for the rest.”

I believe it would be accurate to paraphrase Paul’s words to this point something like this:

“First, I told you about your election of God (1:3–2:27) and that the Lord Jesus already reigns as Lord at the Father’s right hand, above all the cosmic forces of evil you are facing. I have also said that you are raised up with him and are seated with him in the heavenlies.

“Furthermore, you have been given the task of declaring to the principalities and powers the eternal plan of God, and to bring them into submission to the Lord by exercising your delegated authority in union with Christ.

“To do this, you have been given the Holy Spirit. Furthermore, Christ Himself dwells in you. You are one body in Christ.

“Now, let me put all of this in perspective. The Devil and the evil powers which war against you, while defeated by the Lord Jesus, are still free to continue to assault you, over and over again.

“There is no need to fear, however. Jesus alone is Lord. You have victory in Him. You are co-regents in the heavenlies in Him.

“You need to learn how to be strong in Him, however. While the Enemy will attack, God has provided all you need to be victorious Christian soldiers. Let me tell you how all of this is to be worked out in daily life.”

“Finally” is followed immediately by three imperatives: be empowered (v. 10); put on (v. 11); and take up (v. 13). The last two refer directly to the armor of God.

The three imperatives, Arnold says, “are similar in meaning . . . (They) emphasize the need for divine strength in order to resist the enemy.”

Arnold says Paul’s use of the conjunction, oun (“therefore,” vv. 13, 14) introduces the main admonition in verse 14 by making a general reference to the need for divine power because of the supernatural, powerful, and cunning nature of the enemies,” revealed in verse 12. He states that “verse 12 functions as an explication of the nature of the enemy and not as the central element in the development of 6:10–20” as some commentators suggest.

Arnold gives great importance to verse 14.

The imperative stete (“stand firm,” v. 14) has been accurately described as the chief admonition of the passage. The admonition to acquire divine strengthening and enablement has not been given by the author as an end in itself. The strength is required for a particular purpose—that the believer might be enabled to stand against the evil “powers” and successfully resist them (vv. 11, 13, 14). “Stand firm” (v. 14) then becomes the central command of the passage.

Stand Firm

After Paul gives his main command, “Stand firm” (v. 14), he follows with four imperative participles in verses 14–16: perizōsamenoī, “girding about, around”; endusamenoī, “putting on”; hupodēsamenoī, literally “shoeing”; and analabontes, “taking up.”

These four are followed by the second imperative verb in the series, analabete, from analambanō, to “take up” (v. 13). Vine says it means to “receive by deliberate and ready reception of what is offered . . . taking with the hand, taking hold, taking hold of.”

Arnold writes that these commands do not introduce an independent series of admonitions. They are all dependent on stete, “stand firm” (v. 14).

The whole of verses 14–20, then, is dependent on the main thought of verse 14—“stand!” All other thoughts are subservient to this ultimate aim. The divine armor and power are provided for the attainment of this goal. The opponents are carefully delineated so that the reader may know the nature of the enemies to be withstood. Even prayer is given with the goal of resistance in mind.

Be Strengthened

With this overview as the foundation we go back to where Paul begins in verse 10a, “Be strong.” Lincoln says Paul’s use of a passive command here reinforces the notion that “strength is to be drawn from an external source and corresponding to the passive in the prayer of 3:16. ‘Be strengthened with power through His Spirit in the inner man.’” He continues saying that here “the external source is ‘the Lord,’ and the wording is again reminiscent of the Old Testament (cf. 1 Sam. 30:6; ‘David strengthened himself in the Lord his God’; Zech. 10:12. ‘I will make them strong in the Lord.’)”

Arnold comments on 6:10 on the believer’s source of power in the Lord. He says this “phrase not only describes the person with whom the readers have been brought into union, but also refers to the sphere or new set of conditions in which they live, into the domain of light (5:8ff); they are no longer subjected to the tyranny of life under the control of the prince of the authority of the air (2:2) but now live under the loving headship of Christ who is Lord.”

He then says “Grundmann has fittingly commented, ‘This place [in Christ] is to a great extent charged with the superior power which belongs to Christ.’ For this reason the readers can be admonished to ‘be strong.’”

With this in mind, Arnold writes that the source of the strength “is more specifically defined as existing in ‘the strength of the Lord’s might.’” These are the “same terms the author used to describe the divine power which brought about the resurrection and exaltation of Christ (1:19–20).” Thus, he says, Paul “affirms that believers have access to this vast divine power which has already proved itself sufficient to overcome powerful diabolic opposition.”

Continuing with 6:10, we note the two power terms kratos, “might,” and ischus, “strength.” Arnold states that they “are linked in one place

Still Standing

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

in Isaiah (40:26), which the author may have been thinking of as he penned 6:10.”

Arnold then says Paul “appears significantly indebted to Isaiah for many of his terms and metaphors, particularly with respect to the armor.” Both Arnold and Lincoln continually refer to Paul’s use of the Old Testament, particularly Isaiah, in all warfare imagery of Ephesians 6. Arnold states that the one Old Testament passage that stands out as having a significant correspondence to Ephesians 6:10ff is Isaiah 52.

Arnold comments that “the extended similarity of ideas throughout the wider context of Isaiah 52 with Ephesians (especially chap. 6) suggests that our author thought of the entire Isaianic passage as he wrote.”

The Enemy We Face

After appealing for believers to strengthen themselves with the Lord’s strength and might by putting on God’s armor, Paul comes forth with the rationale behind his battle cry in verses 11–12. He says that

1. They need “to stand firm against the schemes of the devil” (v. 11d).
2. They are not facing human foes (v. 12a).
3. They are facing a complex spiritual army-hierarchy of evil supernatural beings who have thoroughly infiltrated the heavens and exercises great control over the earth (v. 12b).

The “stand firm” of verse 14 is a repetition of his two prior “stand firm” statements (v. 11b and 13b). This repetition of “stand firm” three times strengthens the view that it is the central command around which all else flows. Eadie says the construction in Greek of “stand firm against” (v. 11b) is a military phrase “to stand in front of with the view of opposing.” He cites secular sources revealing this use. Thus it fits well the “for and against” military symbolism of Paul in these verses.

This military stance is not directed against men but against the Devil and his high level cosmic demonic powers, Paul says (vv. 11–12). His reference to the believer’s principal cosmic enemy by the name “the devil” here (v. 11) and in 4:27 is unique to his writings. He only uses “the devil” here and in Hebrews 2:14. Paul’s most frequently used title for the devil is “Satan.” He also uses “the evil one” here (v. 16) and in 2 Thessalonians 3:3. He uses “the serpent” in 2 Corinthians 11:3 and “the god of this world” in 2 Corinthians 4:3–4. Then there is “Belial” in 2 Corinthians 6:15 and “the tempter” in 1 Thessalonians 3:5. In addition, of course, are all the power words for principalities and powers which would also include the Devil since he is the chief cosmic evil principality.

We not only face the Devil, but we must also contend with his schemes (6:11). “Schemes (“wiles” in the KJV) is the Greek word methodia. It is always used in a negative manner in the New Testament. Vine says it means craft, deceit (meta, after, hodos, away), a cunning device, a wile, and is translated “wiles (of error) in Ephesians 4:14 [A.V.] paraphrases it, “they lie in wait (to deceive),” . . . (with a view to) the craft (singular) of deceit.

The idea behind methodia is deception. The apostle is warning us that the devil’s entire system of warfare against us is based on deception. Eadie makes an excellent observation at this point. He says that the Devil has a method of warfare peculiar to himself, for it consists of “wiles.” His battles are the rush of a sudden ambush. He fights not on a pitched field, but by sudden assault and secret and cunning onslaught.

The Enemies We Face

Verse 12 is without doubt one of the most remarkable verses in the entire Bible on spiritual warfare. Paul says we struggle against high level, cosmic principalities and powers of total evil. The word for “struggle” is palē, a wrestling. This is the only appearance of the word in the New Testament. Wuest remarks that this Greek athletic term refers to a contest between two in which each endeavors to throw the other . . . When we consider that the loser in a Greek wrestling contest had his eyes gorged out with resulting blindness for the rest of his days, we can form some conception of the Ephesian Greeks’ reaction to Paul’s illustration. The Christian wrestling against the powers of darkness is no less desperate and fateful.

Paul’s switch from the imagery of the soldier to that of the wrestler and then back to the soldier again should not be considered surprising. At times, in hand-to-hand combat, the soldier is also a wrestler. Paul probably used the wrestler imagery primarily to bring out that point.

Up until now the apostle has been talking in general of the evil principalities and powers. First, in 1:21 he gives a five-fold classification of the powers: rule, authority, power, dominion, and name. Next, in 4:8 he refers to “captivity” (KJV), evidently also an evil power concept. Then, in Ephesians 3:10 Paul mentions “rulers and authorities,” and in 4:27 he mentions the devil for the first time. Now in Ephesians 6, Paul unites the Devil (v. 11), the Evil One (v. 16), and the rulers and the powers (v. 12) all together. For the very first time Paul clearly states what he has already implied, that our battle against the Devil is not with him personally or individually. It is with him only as he operates against us through evil, high-level, cosmic principalities and powers.

This is the third time in Ephesians the apostle uses his two primary summary words for the evil principalities and powers: archai, “rulers,” and exousia, “authorities” (1:20 and 3:10). I like John Eadie’s observation on Ephesians 1:21, where these two words are first used in Ephesians along with dunamis, “might,” and kuristos, “lordship.” He says “what the distinction of the words among themselves is, and what degrees of celestial heraldry they describe, it is impossible for us to define.”

That is a good statement. He recognizes that Paul is not being technical. He is simply heaping up words to describe the massive and complex hierarchy of evil supernaturalism with which the believer is at war. The same is true of 6:12. Eadie’s further observations strongly support this more flexible view of these power concepts. He says the order of power in 1:21, with archē and exousia listed first as they are in 6:12 also, is reversed in Colossians 1:16. There the two are listed last. He then mentions that the last power term in 1:21, kuriotēs, is listed second in Colossians 1:16.

Eadie then makes an interesting comment about a possible connection between the four power terms as first used in 1:21. He says, “Whoever possesses the archē enjoys and displays exousia, and whoever is invested with the dunamis, wields it in his appointed kuriotēs.”

The apostle follows rulers and powers with a phrase which is not used anywhere else in the New Testament or in the LXX: tous kosmokratōras tou skotous toutou, “the world rulers of this darkness” (Greek-English New Testament). Arnold attempts to trace the origin of this unique phrase as do other critical commentators. Many come to the same conclusion that Arnold does, that Paul did not create this phrase, but only borrowed it out of the world in which these believers lived. Arnold says the evidence suggests it was “current in both the magical tradition and world of astrology when the author wrote this epistle.”

The term occurs a number of times in the magical papyri, “used as one of a number of descriptive titles for various gods/spirits called upon to aid the conjurer, . . . [and] as one of the many titles of the deity Helios.” Arnold outlines some of the results of his extensive research into the religious use of this phrase in the first century B.C. He says that “the employment of kosmokratōr appears to be a clear example of the Ephesians’ author utilizing a term from the magical/astrological tradition. It is also a likely candidate for being one of ‘the names which are named’ (1:21).”

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Next Arnold states that “the author reinterprets the meaning of kosmokratōr for the Christian readers. There is not one, but many (the term is plural).” He says that the “kosmokratōr is not considered omnipotent, but is placed alongside the principalities and ‘powers’ under the leadership of the devil! Far from being beneficial or helpful deities, the kosmokratores are regarded as evil spirits (pneumatika) of ‘this darkness.’”

Arnold next says that “the way the term is used in this context may serve as the author’s interpretation of the Ephesian Artemis.” It could also include Helios, Sarapis, or other deities claiming to possess cosmic power.

Thus, believers who formerly worshipped Artemis or adhered to magical practices now have Paul’s instruction about how they are to look at the deities or spirits in which they once put their faith. Arnold says the pagan deities “are powerful and evil emissaries of the devil himself who need to be resisted with the powerful armor of God.”

This reminds us of Paul’s treatment of idols and their demons in 1 Corinthians 10:20–21: “The things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to demons [daimonia], and not to God; and I do not want you to become a sharer in demons.” Arnold makes a clear connection between idols and the spirits in Ephesians 6. He then notes that “Paul believed that a Corinthian believer would actually be joined with demonic ‘powers’ if he became involved in the table fellowship of pagan deities. . . . An offering brought to them brought one under the influence of demonic ‘powers.’ This was because the heathen cults were the instruments of the kingdom of Satan.”

Next Arnold points out that “this close association of pagan gods with ‘demons’ is also found in the LXX. Psalms 95:5 reads: ‘For all the gods of the Gentiles are demons’ (see also Deut. 32:7; Baraita 4:7; Jub. 22:16–17). The identification of the gods of the heathen with demons became even more explicit in later Judaism.”

If Paul were writing these words directly to our Western religious context today, what would he say? Today we have demons of materialism, intellectualism, self-worship, the pursuit of power, position, pleasure, and possessions. In the religious realm, we have everything they had except for the physical temple of Artemis. Taking its place, however, are the many material temples plus the mystical temple of the New Age movement. The baser, grosser sides of the religious spirit world found among the magical practitioners of Paul’s day is replicated in modern occultism and Satanism rapidly spreading in our world. A powerful minority is committed to unspeakable, religious, satanic evil.

In the Two-thirds World, the gods of the non-Christians are very similar to those of Ephesus, but with different names. The high level, cosmic powers of evil control these contemporary god-spirit-magical systems, however.

There is one more area of insight into the work of the powers among men which needs to be considered: the strategy of supernatural evil in manipulating human institutions and social structures to work evil among humanity. Walter Wink is the champion of this more socio-cultural institutional view of spirit evil. He says that we must see Paul including here in 6:12 all the archai and exousiai . . . not only divine but human, not only personified but structural, not only demons and kings but the world atmosphere and power invested in institutions, laws, traditions and rituals as well, for it is the cumulative, totalizing effect of all these taken together that creates the sense of bondage of a “dominion of darkness” (see Col. 1:13) presided over by higher powers.

Wink holds the kosmokratores to include all who hold mastery over the world, the spirit of empire, and all forms of institutional idolatry, whereby religion, commerce, education, and state make their own well-being and survival the final criteria of morality, and by which they justify the liquidation of prophets, the persecution of deviants, and the ostracism of opponents.

Wink continues saying that it is the “suprahuman dimension of power in institutions and the cosmos which must be fought, not the mere human agent.” The institution will perpetuate itself no matter who the human agent “because that is what the institution requires for its survival.” Finally he says that it is “this suprahuman quality which accounts for the apparent ‘heavenly,’ bigger than life, quasi-eternal character of the Powers.”

While favorably responding from the depths of my being to Wink’s words, I must emphasize the strong personal supernatural dimension to this warfare motif as well as the social. In fact, the personal-spiritual dimension seems to be Paul’s primary focus in Ephesians 6:10–20.

Finally Paul says we are at war with the pneumatika tēs ponerias en tois epouranios, “the spiritual (hosts) of evil in the heavens” (Greek-English New Testament). Arnold comments that with this phrase Paul ends his list of powers with a “comprehensive designation for all the classes of hostile spirits—ta pneumatika tēs ponerias.” He says that the “term should probably be viewed as an alternative expression for pneuma [spirit] not pneumata [spiritual]. Believers need to be prepared to engage all the forces of evil in battle.”

Eadie contributes a remarkably inspiring and insightful observation. He says that to “rouse up the Christian soldiery, the apostle brings out into bold relief the terrible foes which they are summoned to encounter.” He says that as to their position, they are no subalterns, but foes of mighty rank, the nobility and chieftains of the fallen spirit-world; as to their office, their domain is “this darkness” in which they exercise imperial sway; as to their essence, they are not encumbered with an animal frame, but are “spirits”; and as to their character, they are “evil”—their appetite for evil only exceeds their capacity for producing it.

Finally he says that their “nature is evil, their commission is evil, their work is evil. Evil and evil only are they, alike in essence and operation.”

This then is the foe and his forces we face in battle.

Offensive and Defensive Weapons

Many commentators and preachers affirm that all the weapons listed in Ephesians 6:14–17, with the possible exception of the sword of the Spirit, are defensive. Is that really true? No. A warrior who never attacks the enemy but only defends himself is a trapped warrior. An army that only defends but never attacks is unfit for war. A church which does not reach out to war but only stands and defends itself is already defeated. In spiritual warfare the best defense is to go on the offense.

Walter Wink comments on this question:

It is humorous to watch the statement bob from scholar to scholar that the weapons listed here are all “defensive.” . . . The Pentagon says the same about nuclear missiles. . . . The terms employed are taken straight from the legionnaire’s equipment and the metaphor is of the church like the Roman wedge, the most efficient and terrifying military formation known up to that time and for some thousand years after.

Wink says Paul describes armor that is both offensive and defensive. Although the shield, helmet, breastplate, and greaves (for girding the loins) were all defensive, the other pieces of armor were offensive. The “round shield of the early [Roman] legionnaires had long since been elongated (the scutum); two-thirds covered his body and one-third covered his comrade to the left. This brilliant innovation encouraged tight ranks, since each fighter was in part dependent on his neighbor for protection.” The Roman wedge was primarily for protection while the soldiers were on the offensive. Paul omits the legionnaire’s pilum (javelin) and pugio (dagger), but the dagger was carried in the girdle and may be implied by “girding up the loins.” The pilum was more for disarming than killing the enemy. “Their absence does nothing to turn the gladius into a ‘defensive’ weapon. It was the centerpiece of the Roman army’s devastating military efficiency.”

In referring to Paul’s three-time repetition of “stand firm,” Wink says this “has perhaps contributed to the idea that the Christian is not on the attack so much as trying to keep from being overwhelmed.” Wink quotes Chrysostom, who was familiar with legionnaire ways, to clarify the sense of this “stand firm”: “The very first feature in tactics is, to know how to stand well, and many things will depend upon that . . . Doubtless then he (Paul) does not mean merely any way of standing, but a correct way.”

Wink himself refers to “stand firm” in verses 11 and 14 as having “the sense of the ‘drawing up a military formation for combat.’” In verse 13 the phrase refers to the triumphant stance of the victor. In the latter verse it is linked with katergasamenoi; Bauer translates, “after proving victorious over everything, to stand ground.” The writer has no notion here of Christian life as a last-ditch, rear-guard, defensive operation; this is war with the powers of evil. He depicts the church taking the fight to the enemy, and he expects the church to win. (italics mine)

Finally Wink says that “against such evil the church is well advised to stand shoulder to shoulder, shields overlapping. Hence this instruction in armaments is issued in the plural throughout the paragraph.” He continues saying that not individuals but the whole people of God is addressed. Solitary efforts may at times be necessary, but far better when many, each individually equipped thus, can struggle (pale 6:12) together and perhaps even “prove victorious over everything . . . All this, then, figures in the Church task vis-a-vis the powers.

A Look at Each Piece of the Armor

Lincoln says that Paul’s presentation of the different parts of the armor of God “shows what it means to have accomplished everything necessary for battle, and explains how it is that one stands.”

1. Loins girded with truth (v. 14b). The verb in the middle voice means the Christian must gird himself with the truth. In Luke 12:35, 37, and 17:8, girding one’s loins is a sign of readiness for service.

Lincoln feels the source of Paul’s imagery was probably the Old Testament more than the Roman soldier. “The primary influence on the writer’s choice of terminology at this point is LXX Isaiah 11:5, where the Messiah-King is said to have righteousness girding his loins and truth clothing his sides.” He next refers to E. Levine, who he says, “claims that all such references still carry allusions to the belt-wrestling practices of the ancient Near East and that the wrestling belt became symbolic of soldiers ready for battle.”

The question is often asked at this point, what is the “truth” that Paul has in mind? The two answers most often suggested are: The truth is the word of truth, that is, the Gospel and Jesus as the truth; the truth is the absence of all deceit. Lincoln says that “since in LXX Isaiah 11:5 truth referred to faithfulness and loyalty and what was said there of the Messiah is now applied to believers, it is likely that that is also the force of ‘truth’ in this verse.” Others disagree. They say that truth here is the truth of the gospel (1:13) since Paul has consistently used truth in this manner in this book.

Which is it? In light of the power motif of Ephesians, I lean towards the latter. It is the gospel which is “the power of God unto salvation.” Arnold says that “those who live under the influence of the powerful gospel and ‘walk in the light’ will live by the truth and speak truth (4:25; 5:9) and thereby resist the devil, not giving him a place (4:27).” This is truth encounter.

2. The breastplate of righteousness (v. 14b). Again, we have the middle voice. The putting on of the breastplate of righteousness is the task of the individual believer. We also end up with two views of righteousness. The first is that “righteous” means a righteous life. The second is that it is the righteousness provided in the gospel. Wuest says, “It is not justifying righteousness but sanctifying righteousness.”

Lincoln, taking the same position as Wuest, again borrows a metaphor out of the Old Testament. He says that “‘the breastplate of righteousness’ was part of Yahweh’s armor in the depictions found in Isaiah 59:17 and Wisdom 15:18 (cf. also Isaiah 11:5, where righteousness is the Messiah’s girdle).” Lincoln refers to 1 Thessalonians 5:8. He says that “Paul had made the virtues of faith and love the Christian’s breastplate, but he also depicted righteousness as necessary for the battle when he spoke of ‘the weapons of righteousness for the right hand and the left’ in 1 Corinthians 6:7.”

Arnold takes a different stance.

If the author of Ephesians reflects anything of Pauline tradition in his use of “righteousness,” the concept of divine power is clearly present. Paul writes that the reason the Gospel can be described as the power of God has to do with the fact that it reveals the righteousness of God (Rom. 1:16). The righteousness of God is therefore construed as divine power.

While I see truth in both views, I believe Arnold is right in his power motif. The righteousness of God, in this context, is a power term. The gift of the righteousness of God to the believer totally defeats the Enemy. This righteousness of God in turn transforms the believer’s life. The result of experiencing the divine righteousness is a life of righteousness.

3. Feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace (v. 15). Again there are two primary views here. Some say the focus is on evangelism. As we march forward—thus the motif of the soldier’s sandals—we will be opposed. In the midst of the war, ours is the only message of peace. Lincoln puts forward the second view. Paul here refers to readiness for spiritual warfare, Lincoln says. This is consistent with the main teaching of the entire Ephesians 6:10–20 passage. He observes that Paul here is primarily influenced by the language of an Old Testament passage “which mentions feet in connection with proclaiming the gospel of peace. The text in question is LXX Isaiah 52:7, ‘as the feet of one preaching glad tidings of peace’ (cf. also Nah. 1:15).”

Lincoln mentions that “Paul has used this verse in connection with the preacher of the gospel in Romans 10:15.” He believes in Ephesians the “writer links the equipping of the feet not with the proclamation of the gospel of peace but with the etoimasia ‘readiness,’ of the gospel of peace.” He states that “the term nowhere actually means ‘firm footing,’ and its more usual sense is readiness, preparedness, or preparation (cf., e.g., LXX ps. 9:17; Wis. 13:12; Ep. Arist. 182; Josephus, Ant. 10:1.2, 9 V.L).”

He concludes, saying that the “reference is, therefore, not to readiness to proclaim the gospel . . . but to the readiness or preparedness for combat and for standing in the battle that is bestowed by the gospel of peace (cf. also Meyer, 334–34; Abbot, 185; Hendriksen, 277).” While Lincoln may be correct, one view does not necessarily exclude the other.

4. The shield of faith (v. 16). Lincoln again goes to the Old Testament. He says “the shield was used as an image for God’s protection of his people (cf., e.g., Gen. 15:1; Ps. 5:2; 18:2, 30, 35; 28:7; 33:20; 35:2; 59:11; 91:4; 115:9–11; 144:1).” He then states that Paul here uses thureos or scutum, for shield. It is the “large shield, four feet in length and two and a half feet in width, which is described by Polybius 6.23.2 as the first part of the Roman panoplia and which protected the whole body.”

Still Standing Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Lincoln then looks at the place of faith in Ephesians. “Faith takes hold of God’s resources in the midst of the onslaughts of evil and produces the firm resolve which douses anything the enemy throws at the believer (cf. also 1 Thess. 5:8, where faith is part of the breastplate, and 1 Peter 5:8, 9, where firm faith is necessary for resisting the devil).”

He next refers to Paul’s statement that “faith will enable the believer ‘to extinguish all the burning arrows of the evil one.’ Burning arrows feature in the Old Testament in Psalms 7:13 and Proverbs 26:18. They are the malleoli, arrows tipped with inflammable tar or pitch and shot off after being lit.” He says that “Livy (Hist. 21.8) graphically describes how these arrows, even when not hitting the body but caught by the shield, caused panic because they blazed fiercely and tempted soldiers to throw down their burning shields and become vulnerable to the spears of their enemies.”

He applies this to Ephesians 6:16. “Here the burning arrows represent every type of assault devised by the evil one, not just temptation to impure or unloving conduct but also false teaching, persecution, doubt, and despair. Faith is the power which enables believers to resist and triumph over such attacks.”

5. The helmet of salvation (v. 17). Paul introduces the next two pieces of armor with another change of verbs. The one verb “take” applies to both pieces of armor listed next, “the helmet of salvation” and “the sword of the Spirit which is the word of God.” S. D. F. Salmond writing in the Expositor’s Greek New Testament says, “The verb has its proper sense here, not merely ‘take,’ but ‘receive,’ i.e., as a gift from the Lord, a thing provided and offered by Him.”

The helmet is, of course, required for the defense of the head. Paul is certainly quoting from Isaiah 59:17.

And He [God] put on righteousness like a breastplate
And a helmet of salvation on his head.

Beautiful words indeed! The helmet of salvation protects us from the most fatal of all blows to a child of God, the doubts about his acceptance “warts and all” by God.

Lincoln says that for Paul what ultimately protects believers is that God has already rescued them from bondage to the prince of the realm of the air and seated them with Christ in the heavenly realms (cf. 2:1–10). By appropriating this salvation as their helmet, believers have every reason to be confident of the outcome of the battle.

6. The sword of the Spirit which is the Word of God (v. 17). We have two technical words used here by Paul. One is the word for “sword,” and the other is the word for “the Word of God.” Here for the first time in Ephesians, the Holy Spirit is seen to be the power behind the Christian warrior’s use of the Word of God which is the sword God has given him for battle.

Lincoln again has a good word for us. He says that the “sharp short sword (maxaira opposed to pouphaia, the long sword) was the crucial offensive weapon in close combat.” He then mentions that this “sword stands not for the Spirit but for ‘the word of God.’” He then wisely states that the “Spirit is not so much the one who supplies the sword—both the helmet and the sword are to be received from God—but the one who gives it its effectiveness, its cutting edge . . . (cf. Heb. 4:12).”

Lincoln next mentions 2 Thessalonians 2:8. “The Lord Jesus will slay the lawless one with the breath of his mouth,” also quoting Isaiah 11:4. Then he reminds us that in Revelation “Christ wages war with the sword of his mouth, and his word reveals people’s deeds for what they are (cf. 1:16; 2:12, 16; 19:13, 15).”

Lincoln says that in

Ephesians, however, when the Christian soldier wields the sword of the word, it is not first of all the word of judgment but the good news of salvation. Rema here, not logos, refers to the gospel (cf. also 5:26; Rom. 10:18; 1 Peter 1:25). This is “the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation” (1:13), “the gospel of peace” (6:15).

Finally Lincoln states that “as the Church continues to be the reconciled and reconciling community, the gospel conquers the alienating hostile powers and brings about God’s saving purposes.”

As we close Paul’s outline of the divine armor God has provided for the Christian warrior, we discover the apostle is not finished yet (vv. 18–20). While prayer is not to be seen as an additional piece of armor, it is directly connected to all Paul has said from verses 10–17.

Prayer is not a seventh piece of spiritual armor, however. It is too grand, too foundational, too essential, too all encompassing to be listed as just another piece of spiritual armor, important as they are.

I like Arnold’s way of expressing this. He says Paul’s summons to prayer “completes his presentation of the spiritual weaponry.” The “author appears to give prayer a more prominent place than merely the seventh among a list of spiritual weapons. He says the “author maintains a structural continuity with the foregoing delineation of the weapons by employing a participle (proseuxomenoi) still in dependence on the main verb ‘stand’ in verse 14.”

Arnold sees Paul as wanting “his readers to understand prayer as an essential spiritual weapon, but more than a weapon.” He says “it is foundational for the deployment of all the other weapons.” Indeed, it is the key to effective warfare with high-level, cosmic powers of evil. In Ephesians 6 it is the total context in which spiritual warfare is engaged<sup>15</sup>

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

The Stand of the Saints

Ephesians 6:11-20

Put on the whole armour of God. . . . And, having done all, to stand. Ephesians 6:11, 13

Paul is writing from prison; he knows all about the Roman soldier whose armour he is describing, for he was chained to one of them. "I am an ambassador in chains" (rv) he says.

These verses are not a picture of how to fight, but of how not to fight. If you have not put on the armour, you will have to fight; but having put on the whole armour of God, then "stand," says Paul. There are times when God's servants are sent out to attack, to storm the citadel, but the counsel given here is as to how we are to hold the position which has been gained. We need to learn this conservation of energy, "having done all, to stand," manifesting the full power of God.

"For we wrestle not against flesh and blood"—if we do, we are "out of it"; our warfare is against "the spiritual hosts of wickedness" (rv) which the world does not see. We are apt to forget that the enemy is unseen and that he is supernatural (cf. Daniel 10:12-13) "Don't make any mistake," says Paul, "you are not wrestling against flesh and blood, you are wrestling against tremendous powers you will never be able to withstand unless you put on the whole armour of God. When you see men doing terrible things, remember you are not wrestling against them, they are the cat's-paw of the rulers of the darkness of this world." We are to be taken up with a much more difficult wrestling, viz., the wrestling against the spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places which prevent us from seeing God. If Satan in his malice and cunning can slander God to His own children, he will do it because that is his whole aim. Our wrestling is to be against the thoughts suggested to our mind which press down on us and make us say, "What is the good of asking God to bring peace to a broken-hearted woman? of asking God to sustain people whose lives are ruined?" If I try to describe to my own heart a bereaved home and let the sorrow of it weigh with me, instantly my faith in God is gone; I am so overcome with sympathy and fellow-feeling for them that my prayer is nothing more than a wail of sympathy before God. The telepathic influence of my mind on another, whether I speak or not, is so subtle that 'the prince of this world will use it to prevent my getting hold of God; whereas if I remain confident in God I lift the weight off lives in a way I shall never realise till I stand before Him. We have to pray that the enemy shall not exact upon the hearts and minds of God's children and make them slander Him by worry and anxiety. As the Lord's remembrancers we are to hold off the exactings of Satan, not add to them.

Do I expect God to answer prayer? The first thing that will stagger our faith in God is the false sentiment arising out of a sympathetic apprehension of the difficulties. "Peter therefore was kept in the prison: but prayer was made earnestly of the church unto God for him" (rv): the church prayed, and God did the impossible thing, and Peter was delivered. We have to pray with our eyes on God, not on the difficulties.

"Praying always . . . for all saints." It is not always a time of triumph; there are not only times of taking strongholds by storm, but times when spiritual darkness falls, when the great powers in the heavenlies are at work, when no one understands the wiles of Satan but God; at such times we have to stand steadily shoulder to shoulder for God. How often the Spirit of God emphasises the "together-ness" of the saints!

"And for me," says Paul. Prayer is God's ordained way, the insignificant way of prayer.<sup>16</sup>

Ephesians Verses 10-18

Here is a general exhortation to constancy in our Christian course, and to encourage in our Christian warfare. Is not our life a warfare? It is so; for we struggle with the common calamities of human life. Is not our religion much more a warfare? It is so; for we struggle with the opposition of the powers of darkness, and with many enemies who would keep us from God and heaven. We have enemies to fight against, a captain to fight for, a banner to fight under, and certain rules of war by which we are to govern ourselves. "Finally, my brethren (v. 10), it yet remains that you apply yourselves to your work and duty as Christian soldiers." Now it is requisite that a soldier be both stout-hearted and well armed. If Christians be soldiers of Jesus Christ,

I. They must see that they be stout-hearted. This is prescribed here: Be strong in the Lord, etc. Those who have so many battles to fight, and who, in their way to heaven, must dispute every pass, with dint of sword, have need of a great deal of courage. Be strong therefore, strong for service, strong for suffering, strong for fighting. Let a soldier be ever so well armed without, if he have not within a good heart, his armour will stand him in little stead. Note, spiritual strength and courage are very necessary for our spiritual warfare. Be strong in the Lord, either in his cause and for his sake or rather in his strength. We have no sufficient strength of our own. Our natural courage is as perfect cowardice, and our natural strength as perfect weakness; but all our sufficiency is of God. In his strength we must go forth and go on. By the actings of faith, we must fetch in grace and help from heaven to enable us to do that which of ourselves we cannot do, in our Christian work and warfare. We should stir up ourselves to resist temptations in a reliance upon God's all-sufficiency and the omnipotence of his might.

II. They must be well armed: "Put on the whole armour of God (v. 11), make use of all the proper defensives and weapons for repelling the temptations and stratagems of Satan—get and exercise all the Christian graces, the whole armour, that no part be naked and exposed to the enemy." Observe, Those who would approve themselves to have true grace must aim at all grace, the whole armour. It is called the armour of God, because he both prepares and bestows it. We have no armour of our own that will be armour of proof in a trying time. Nothing will stand us in stead but the armour of God. This armour is prepared for us, but we must put it on; that is, we must pray for grace, we must use the grace given us, and draw it out into act and exercise as there is occasion. The reason assigned why the Christian should be completely armed is that he may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil—that he may be able to hold out, and to overcome, notwithstanding all the devil’s assaults, both of force and fraud, all the deceits he puts upon us, all the snares he lays for us, and all his machinations against us. This the apostle enlarges upon here, and shows,

1. What our danger is, and what need we have to put on this whole armour, considering what sort of enemies we have to deal with—the devil and all the powers of darkness: For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, etc., v. 12. The combat for which we are to be prepared is not against ordinary human enemies, not barely against men compounded of flesh and blood, nor against our own corrupt natures singly considered, but against the several ranks of devils, who have a government which they exercise in this world. (1.) We have to do with a subtle enemy, an enemy who uses wiles and stratagems, as v. 11. He has a thousand ways of beguiling unstable souls: hence he is called a serpent for subtlety, an old serpent, experienced in the art and trade of tempting. (2.) He is a powerful enemy: Principalities, and powers, and rulers. They are numerous, they are vigorous; and rule in those heathen nations which are yet in darkness. The dark parts of the world are the seat of Satan’s empire. Yea, they are usurping princes over all men who are yet in a state of sin and ignorance. Satan’s is a kingdom of darkness; whereas Christ’s is a kingdom of light. (3.) They are spiritual enemies: Spiritual wickedness in high places, or wicked spirits, as some translate it. The devil is a spirit, a wicked spirit; and our danger is the greater from our enemies because they are unseen, and assault us ere we are aware of them. The devils are wicked spirits, and they chiefly annoy the saints with, and provoke them to, spiritual wickednesses, pride, envy, malice, etc. These enemies are said to be in high places, or in heavenly places, so the word is, taking heaven (as one says) for the whole expansum, or spreading out of the air between the earth and the stars, the air being the place from which the devils assault us. Or the meaning may be, “We wrestle about heavenly places or heavenly things,” so some of the ancients interpret it. Our enemies strive to prevent our ascent to heaven, to deprive us of heavenly blessings and to obstruct our communion with heaven. They assault us in the things that belong to our souls, and labour to deface the heavenly image in our hearts; and therefore we have need to be upon our guard against them. We have need of faith in our Christian warfare, because we have spiritual enemies to grapple with, as well as of faith in our Christian work, because we have spiritual strength to fetch in. Thus you see your danger.

2. What our duty is: to take and put on the whole armour of God, and then to stand our ground, and withstand our enemies.

(1.) We must withstand, v. 13. We must not yield to the devil’s allurements and assaults, but oppose them. Satan is said to stand up against us, 1 Chr. 21:1. If he stand up against us, we must stand against him; set up, and keep up, an interest in opposition to the devil. Satan is the wicked one, and his kingdom is the kingdom of sin: to stand against Satan is to strive against sin. That you may be able to withstand in the evil day, in the day of temptation, or of any sore affliction.

(2.) We must stand our ground: And, having done all, to stand. We must resolve, by God’s grace, not to yield to Satan. Resist him, and he will flee. If we distrust our cause, or our leader, or our armour, we give him advantage. Our present business is to withstand the assaults of the devil, and to stand it out; and then, having done all that is incumbent on the good soldiers of Jesus Christ, our warfare will be accomplished, and we shall be finally victorious.

(3.) We must stand armed; and this is here most enlarged upon. Here is a Christian in complete armour: and the armour is divine: Armour of God, armour of light, Rom. 13:12. Armour of righteousness, 2 Co. 6:7. The apostle specifies the particulars of this armour, both offensive and defensive. The military girdle or belt, the breast-plate, the greaves (or soldier’s shoes), the shield, the helmet, and the sword. It is observable that, among them all, there is none for the back; if we turn our back upon the enemy, we lie exposed. [1.] Truth or sincerity is our girdle, v. 14. It was prophesied of Christ (Isa. 11:5) that righteousness should be the girdle of his loins and faithfulness the girdle of his reins. That which Christ was girded with all Christians must be girded with. God desires truth, that is, sincerity, in the inward parts. This is the strength of our loins; and it girds on all other pieces of our armour, and therefore is first mentioned. I know no religion without sincerity. Some understand it of the doctrine of the truths of the gospel: they should cleave to us as the girdle does to the loins, Jer. 13:11. This will restrain from libertinism and licentiousness, as a girdle restrains and keeps in the body. This is the Christian soldier’s belt: ungirded with this, he is unblest. [2.] Righteousness must be our breast-plate. The breast-plate secures the vitals, shelters the heart. The righteousness of Christ imputed to us is our breast-plate against the arrows of divine wrath. The righteousness of Christ implanted in us is our breast-plate to fortify the heart against the attacks which Satan makes against us. The apostle explains this in 1 Th. 5:8, Putting on the breast-plate of faith and love. Faith and love include all Christian graces; for by faith we are united to Christ and by love to our brethren. These will infer a diligent observance of our duty to God, and a righteous deportment towards men, in all the offices of justice, truth, and charity. [3.] Resolution must be as the greaves to our legs: And their feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace, v. 15. Shoes, or greaves of brass, or the like, were formerly part of the military armour (1 Sa. 17:6): the use of them was to defend the feet against the gall-traps, and sharp sticks, which were wont to be laid privily in the way, to obstruct the marching of the enemy, those who fell upon them being unfit to march. The preparation of the gospel of peace signifies a prepared and resolved frame of heart, to adhere to the gospel and abide by it, which will enable us to walk with a steady pace in the way of religion, notwithstanding the difficulties and dangers that may be in it. It is styled the gospel of peace because it brings all sorts of peace, peace with God, with ourselves, and with one another. It may also be meant of that which prepares for the entertainment of the gospel, namely, repentance. With this our feet must be shod: for by living a life of repentance we are armed against temptations to sin, and the designs of our great enemy. Dr. Whitby thinks this may be the sense of the words: “That you may be ready for the combat, be shod with the gospel of peace, endeavour after that peaceable and quiet mind which the gospel calls for. Be not easily provoked, nor prone to quarrel: but show all gentleness and all long-suffering to all men, and this will certainly preserve you from many great temptations and persecutions, as did those shoes of brass the soldiers from those galltraps,” etc. [4.] Faith must be our shield: Above all, or chiefly, taking the shield of faith, v. 16. This is more necessary than any of them. Faith is all in all to us in an hour of temptation. The breast-plate secures the vitals; but with the shield we turn every way. This is the victory over the world, even our faith. We are to be fully persuaded of the truth of all God’s promises and threatenings, such a faith being of great use against temptations. Consider faith as it is the evidence of things not seen and the substance of things hoped for, and it will appear to be of admirable use for this purpose. Faith, as receiving Christ and the benefits of redemption, so deriving grace from him, is like a shield, a sort of universal defence. Our enemy the devil is here called the wicked one. He is wicked himself, and he endeavours to make us wicked. His temptations are called darts, because of their swift and undiscerned flight, and the deep wounds that they give to the soul; fiery darts, by way of allusion to the poisonous darts which were wont to inflame the parts which were wounded with them, and therefore were so called, as the serpents with poisonous stings are called fiery serpents. Violent temptations, by which the soul is set on fire of hell, are the darts which Satan shoots at us. Faith is the shield with which we must quench these fiery darts, wherein we should receive them, and so render them ineffectual, that they may not hit us, or at least that they may not hurt us. Observe, Faith, acted upon the word of God and applying that, acted upon the grace of Christ and improving that, quenches the darts of temptation. [5.] Salvation must be our helmet (v. 17); that is, hope, which has salvation for its object; so 1 Th. 5:8. The helmet secures the head. A good hope of salvation, well founded and well built, will both purify the soul and keep it from being defiled by Satan, and it will comfort the soul and keep it from being troubled and tormented by Satan. He would tempt us to despair; but good hope keeps us trusting in God, and rejoicing in him. [6.] The word of God is the sword of the Spirit. The sword is a very necessary and useful part of a soldier’s furniture. The word of God is very necessary, and of great use to the Christian, in order to his maintaining the spiritual warfare and succeeding in it. It is called the sword of the Spirit, because it is of the Spirit’s inditing and he renders it efficacious and powerful, and sharper than a two-edged sword. Like Goliath’s sword, none like that; with this we assault the assailants. Scripture-arguments are the most powerful arguments to repel temptation with. Christ himself resisted Satan's temptations with, It is written, Mt. 4:4, 6, 7, 10. This, being hid in the heart, will preserve from sin (Ps. 119:11), and will mortify and kill those lusts and corruptions that are latent there. [7.] Prayer must buckle on all the other parts of our Christian armour, v. 18. We must join prayer with all these graces, for our defence against these spiritual enemies, imploring help and assistance of God, as the case requires: and we must pray always. Not as though we were to do nothing else but pray, for there are other duties of religion and of our respective stations in the world that are to be done in their place and season; but we should keep up constant times of prayer, and be constant to them. We must pray upon all occasions, and as often as our own and others' necessities call us to it. We must always keep up a disposition to prayer, and should intermix ejaculatory prayers with other duties, and with common business. Though set and solemn prayer may sometimes be unseasonable (as when other duties are to be done), yet pious ejaculations can never be so. We must pray with all prayer and supplication, with all kinds of prayer: public, private, and secret, social and solitary, solemn and sudden; with all the parts of prayer: confession of sin, petition for mercy, and thanksgivings for favours received. We must pray in the Spirit; our spirits must be employed in the duty and we must do it by the grace of God's good Spirit. We must watch thereunto, endeavouring to keep our hearts in a praying frame, and taking all occasions, and improving all opportunities, for the duty: we must watch to all the motions of our own hearts towards the duty. When God says, Seek my face, our hearts must comply, Ps. 27:8. This we must do with all perseverance. We must abide by the duty of prayer, whatever change there may be in our outward circumstances; and we must continue in it as long as we live in the world. We must persevere in a particular prayer; not cutting it short, when our hearts are disposed to enlarge, and there is time for it, and our occasions call for it. We must likewise persevere in particular requests, notwithstanding some present discouragements and repulses. And we must pray with supplication, not for ourselves only, but for all saints; for we are members one of another. Observe, None are so much saints, and in so good a condition in this world, but they need our prayers, and they ought to have them. The apostle passes hence to the conclusion of the epistle.

Week 5: Preparation in the Spirit

Verses 19–24

Here, I. He desires their prayers for him, v. 19. Having mentioned supplication for all saints, he puts himself into the number. We must pray for all saints, and particularly for God's faithful ministers. Brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may run and be glorified. Observe that it is he would have them pray for in his behalf: "That utterance may be given unto me; that I may be enlarged from my present restraints, and so have liberty to propagate the faith of Christ; that I may have ability to express myself in a suitable and becoming manner; and that I may open my mouth boldly, that is, that I may deliver the whole counsel of God, without any base fear, shame, or partiality." To make known the mystery of the gospel; some understand it of that part of the gospel which concerns the calling of the Gentiles, which had hitherto, as a mystery, been concealed. But the whole gospel was a mystery, till made known by divine revelation; and it is the work of Christ's ministers to publish it. Observe, Paul had a great command of language; they called him Mercury, because he was the chief speaker (Acts 14:12), and yet he would have his friends ask of God the gift of utterance for him. He was a man of great courage, and often signalized himself for it; yet he would have them pray that God would give him boldness. He knew as well what to say as any man; yet he desires them to pray for him, that he may speak as he ought to speak. The argument with which he enforces his request is that for the sake of the gospel he was an ambassador in bonds, v. 20. He was persecuted and imprisoned for preaching the gospel; though, notwithstanding, he continued in the embassy committed to him by Christ, and persisted in preaching it. Observe, 1. It is no new thing for Christ's ministers to be in bonds. 2. It is a hard thing for them to speak boldly when that is their case. 3. The best and most eminent ministers have need of, and may receive advantage by, the prayers of good Christians; and therefore should earnestly desire them. Having thus desired their prayers,

II. He recommends Tychicus unto them, v. 21, 22. He sent him with this epistle, that he might acquaint them with what other churches were informed of, namely, how he did, and what he did; how he was used by the Romans in his bonds, and how he behaved himself in his present circumstances. It is desirable to good ministers both that their Christian friends should know their state and that they should be acquainted with the condition of their friends; for by this means they may the better help each other in their prayers.—And that he might comfort their hearts, by giving such an account of his sufferings, of the cause of them, and of the temper of his mind and his behaviour under them, as might prevent their fainting at his tribulations and even minister matter of joy and thanksgiving unto them. He tells them that Tychicus was a beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord. He was a sincere Christian, and so a brother in Christ: he was a faithful minister in the work of Christ, and he was very dear to Paul, which makes Paul's love to these Christian Ephesians the more observable, in that he should now part with so good and dear a friend for their sakes, when his company and conversation must have been peculiarly delightful and serviceable to himself. But the faithful servants of Jesus Christ are wont to prefer the public good to their own private or personal interests.

III. He concludes with his good wishes and prayers for them, and not for them only, but for all the brethren, v. 23, 24. His usual benediction was, Grace and peace; here it is, Peace be to the brethren, and love with faith. By peace we are to understand all manner of peace—peace with God, peace with conscience, peace among themselves: and all outward prosperity is included in the word; as if he had said, "I wish the continuance and increase of all happiness to you." And love with faith. This in part explains what he means in the following verse by grace; not only grace in the fountain, or the love and favour of God, but grace in the streams, the grace of the Spirit flowing from that divine principle, faith and love including all the rest. It is the continuance and increase of these that he desires for them, in whom they were already begun. It follows, from God the Father, etc. All Grace and blessings are derived to the saints from God, through the merit and intercession of Jesus Christ our Lord. The closing benediction is more extensive than the former; for in this he prays for all true believers at Ephesus, and every where else. It is the undoubted character of all the saints that they love our Lord Jesus Christ. Our love to Christ is not acceptable, unless it be in sincerity: indeed there is no such thing as love to Christ, whatever men may pretend, where there is not sincerity. The words may be read, Grace be with all those who love our Lord Jesus Christ in incorruption, who continue constant in their love to him, so as not to be corrupted out of it by any baits or seductions whatsoever, and whose love to him is uncorrupted by any opposite lust, or the love of any thing displeasing to him. Grace, that is, the favour of God, and all good (spiritual and temporal), that is, the product of it, are and shall be with all those who thus love our Lord Jesus Christ. And it is, or ought to be, the desire and prayer of every lover of Christ that it may be so with all his fellow-Christians. Amen, so be it.<sup>17</sup>

Practical Discipleship: PRAYER

Prayer is not a freewill offering to God; it is an obligatory service, something which he requires.
Dietrich Bonhoeffer

Luke 11:1 "Lord, teach us to PRAY."

PRACTICING HIS PRESENCE

Twofold definition of PRAYER:

- 1.) Growing perpetual communion with God.                      2.) Asking.

"Real prayer comes not from gritting our teeth but from falling in love." R. Foster

Five misconceptions of PRAYER:

1. Prayer mainly involves asking for things.
2. Prayer must always be a struggle to be real.
3. We live in a closed universe.
4. Our faith will crumble if our prayers are not answered right away.
5. Pray once, any more shows lack of faith.

Study questions:

What does 'To pray is to change' mean?
What is 'prayer is a learning experience'?
How can you tell when you receive a burden to pray for someone?
Does imagination have anything to do with prayer?

Moving Inward:

The SIMPLE prayer:

Bringing ordinary, human concerns to a loving and compassionate Father.

How do we come to prayer?

With what state of mind?

With what motives?

Dark Night of the Soul would describe what type of emotion in PRAYER?

Do I give God the freedom to follow His own will in my life?

The prayer of EXAMEN:

Examen(The accurate assessment of the true situation.)

Ps. 139:1, 1 Chron. 28:9, 1 Cor. 2:10

Consciousness: Discovering HOW God has been present to us throughout the day and HOW we have responded to His loving presence. It is HOW God makes us aware of what surrounds us.

A call to rehearse the mighty deeds of God. The ART of being present.

Conscience: Inviting God to search our hearts to the depths.

Goal: The gift of Self Knowledge.

The prayer of TEARS(Penthos):

Broken and contrite heart.

The HEALING prayer:

Seeing all aspects: Matthew 12:15; <sup>15</sup> But when Jesus knew it, <sup>1</sup>He withdrew from there. <sup>m</sup>And great <sup>3</sup>multitudes followed Him, and He healed them all.

John 9:1-12

Now as Jesus passed by, He saw a man who was blind from birth. <sup>2</sup> And His disciples asked Him, saying, "Rabbi, <sup>a</sup>who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?"

<sup>6</sup> When He had said these things, <sup>f</sup>He spat on the ground and made clay with the saliva; and He anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay. <sup>7</sup> And He said to him, "Go, wash <sup>g</sup>in the pool of Siloam" (which is translated, Sent). So <sup>h</sup>he went and washed, and came back seeing.

<sup>8</sup> Therefore the neighbors and those who previously had seen that he was <sup>2</sup>blind said, "Is not this he who sat and begged?"

<sup>9</sup> Some said, "This is he." Others said, <sup>3</sup>"He is like him."

He said, "I am he."

<sup>10</sup> Therefore they said to him, "How were your eyes opened?"

<sup>11</sup> He answered and said, <sup>4</sup>"A Man called Jesus made clay and anointed my eyes and said to me, 'Go to <sup>4</sup>the pool of Siloam and wash.' So I went and washed, and I received sight."

9:2 Blindness was common in Jesus' day, often resulting from a birth defect, infection, leprosy, cataracts, or advanced age. The Jews associated blindness (and suffering in general) with sin:

The man might have sinned while still in his mother's womb (some Jews believed in prenatal sin);

The man, in his pre-existent state (an idea that emerged from the Greek philosopher Plato about 427–327 B.C.) might have sinned before his conception;

The blind man's parents might have sinned and brought the affliction of blindness upon their son. Jews believed the sins of the parents could cause suffering for the child (see Ex. 20:5; 34:7; Num. 14:18).

and Mark 9:14-29

<sup>14</sup> <sup>n</sup>And when He came to the disciples, He saw a great multitude around them, and scribes disputing with them. <sup>15</sup> Immediately, when they saw Him, all the people were greatly amazed, and running to Him, greeted Him. <sup>16</sup> And He asked the scribes, "What are you discussing with them?"

<sup>17</sup> Then <sup>o</sup>one of the crowd answered and said, "Teacher, I brought You my son, who has a mute spirit. <sup>18</sup> And wherever it seizes him, it throws him down; he foams at the mouth, gnashes his teeth, and becomes rigid. So I spoke to Your disciples, that they should cast it out, but they could not."

<sup>19</sup> He answered him and said, "O <sup>p</sup>faithless <sup>2</sup>generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I <sup>3</sup>bear with you? Bring him to Me." <sup>20</sup> Then they brought him to Him. And <sup>q</sup>when he saw Him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and he fell on the ground and wallowed, foaming at the mouth.

<sup>21</sup> So He asked his father, "How long has this been happening to him?"

And he said, "From childhood. <sup>22</sup> And often he has thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, have compassion on us and help us."

<sup>23</sup> Jesus said to him, "If <sup>4</sup>you can believe, all things are possible to him who believes."

<sup>24</sup> Immediately the father of the child cried out and said with tears, "Lord, I believe; <sup>r</sup>help my unbelief!"

<sup>25</sup> When Jesus saw that the people came running together, He <sup>re</sup>buked the unclean spirit, saying to it, "Deaf and dumb spirit, I command you, come out of him and enter him no more!" <sup>26</sup> Then the spirit cried out, convulsed him greatly, and came out of him. And he became as one dead, so that many said, "He is dead." <sup>27</sup> But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose.

<sup>28</sup> <sup>u</sup>And when He had come into the house, His disciples asked Him privately, "Why could we not cast it out?"

<sup>29</sup> So He said to them, "This kind can come out by nothing but <sup>v</sup>prayer <sup>5</sup>and fasting."

When He says no...how do you know and what do you do?

Hebrews 6:1-6 (NLT)

So let us stop going over the basics of Christianity<sup>1</sup> again and again. Let us go on instead and become mature in our understanding. Surely we don't need to start all over again with the importance of turning away from evil deeds and placing our faith in God. <sup>2</sup> You don't need further instruction about baptisms, the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment. <sup>3</sup> And so, God willing, we will move forward to further understanding.

<sup>4</sup> For it is impossible to restore to repentance those who were once enlightened—those who have experienced the good things of heaven and shared in the Holy Spirit, <sup>5</sup> who have tasted the goodness of the word of God and the power of the age to come—<sup>6</sup> and who then turn away from God. It is impossible to bring such people to repentance again because they are nailing the Son of God to the cross again by rejecting him, holding him up to public shame.

Mark 6:5

Then <sup>1</sup>He went out from there and came to His own country, and His disciples followed Him. <sup>2</sup> And when the Sabbath had come, He began to teach in the synagogue. <sup>4</sup> But Jesus said to them, <sup>f</sup>"A prophet is not without honor except in his own country, among his own relatives, and in his own house."<sup>5</sup> <sup>g</sup>Now He could do no mighty work there, except that He laid His hands on a few sick people and healed them. <sup>6</sup> And <sup>h</sup>He marveled because of their unbelief. <sup>i</sup>Then He went about the villages in a circuit, teaching.

<sup>22</sup> Then He came to Bethsaida; and they brought a <sup>o</sup>blind man to Him, and begged Him to <sup>p</sup>touch him. <sup>23</sup> So He took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the town. And when <sup>q</sup>He had spit on his eyes and put His hands on him, He asked him if he saw anything.

<sup>24</sup> And he looked up and said, "I see men like trees, walking."

<sup>25</sup> Then He put His hands on his eyes again and made him look up. And he was restored and saw everyone clearly. <sup>26</sup> Then He sent him away to his house, saying, <sup>4</sup> "Neither go into the town, <sup>r</sup>nor tell anyone in the town."

Acts 28:7-9

<sup>7</sup> In that region there was an estate of the <sup>2</sup>leading citizen of the island, whose name was Publius, who received us and entertained us courteously for three days. <sup>8</sup> And it happened that the father of Publius lay sick of a fever and dysentery.
